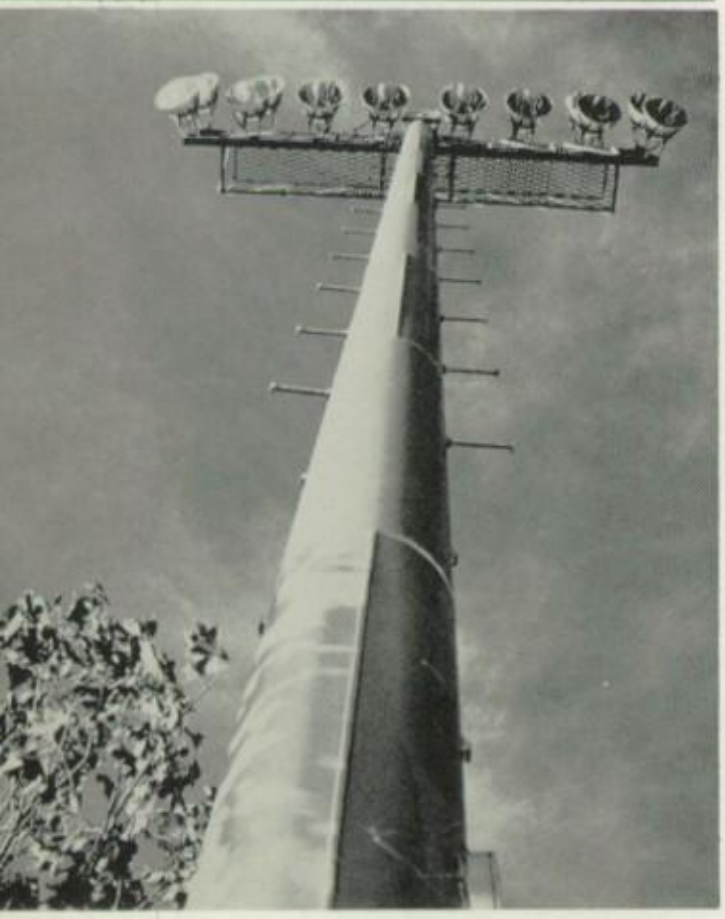
HIGHLAND PARK HIGH SCHOOL
DALLAS, TEXAS

GROWING WITH HI PARK HI . . .



With current student population straining the classroom facilities of a twenty-year-old building, Highland Park High School anticipates further enrollment increase within the next few years.

In order to relieve current crowded conditions, eliminate the inconvenience of the "temporary" annex building, and provide growing room for the future, eight new classrooms were started in the summer of 1956 with the completion date set for early 1957.

Other not so obvious improvements this year were the new indirect lighting and sound-proof ceilings in all classrooms and offices throughout the building.

Night football games took on new sparkle and brilliance as a new set of field lights made it easier for both players and spectators to locate each other and the ball. To change the song of last year's spectators, "Football is a Many-Splintered Thing," new bleachers were put in two sections.

Not only were the classrooms crowded but also the streets surrounding the building. The problem of finding a parking place has been growing for several years. To relieve this situation, 122 additional parking places were made. To add to the comfort of our school, air conditioners were put in a few offices.

Highland Park students are fortunate in having a faculty and a school board behind them who support a program of continual improvement in order that Highland Park may be foremost in progress toward better school living.

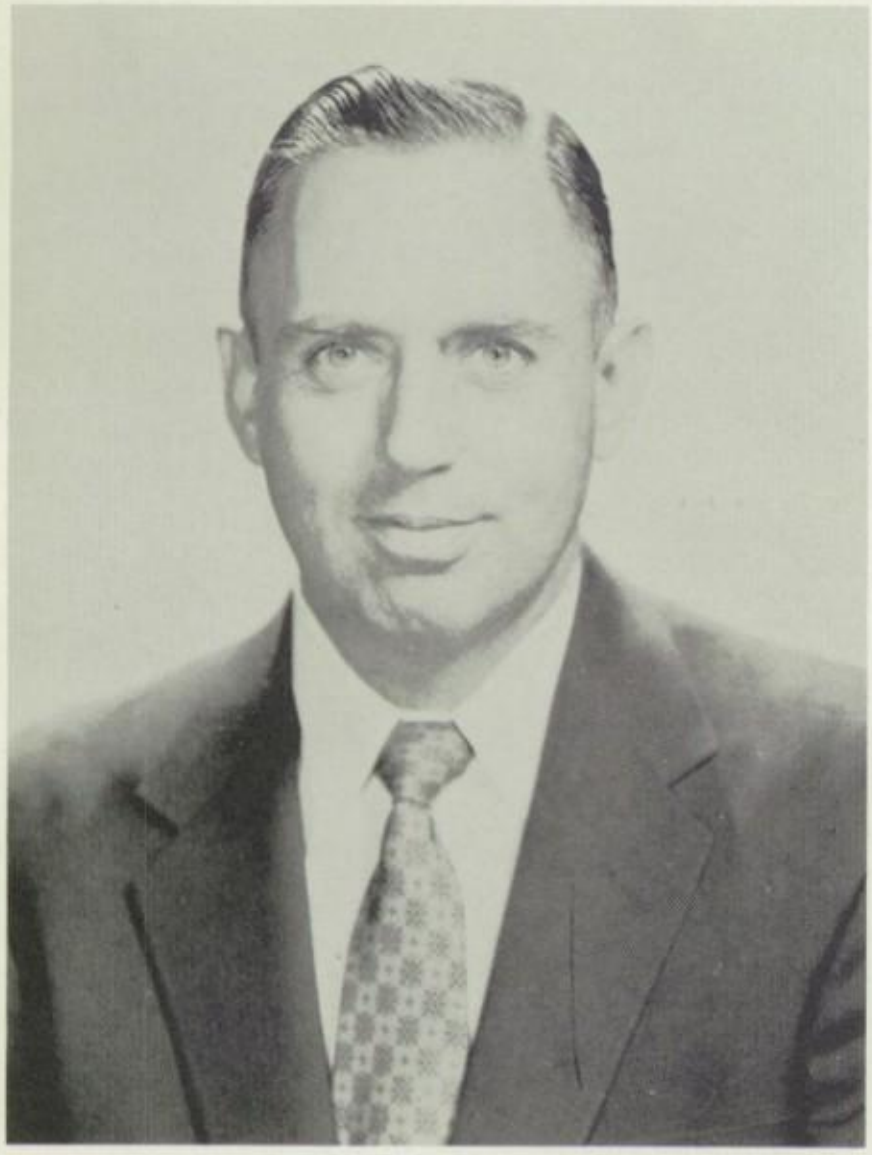
THE CURTAIN IS CLOSED . . .

This is our school. It has its joys and sorrows, its comedy and tragedy. In a play the scenery must be set up before the curtain opens, and the actors must memorize and rehearse their parts before opening night. As in every school Highland Park has "behind the scenes" events which we scarcely if ever stop to recognize.

A few moments of thought will remind us of these backstage episodes which may now seem quite small and unimportant to us. The football player who made the sixty-yard touchdown in that all-important game put in some extra-hard practice sessions. The bus and train caravans which we so spiritedly joined had to be planned and prepared for days ahead of time by a group of conscientious people. After the dances we never thought of the afternoons of preparation that were spent on the decorations that we so joyously tore down. Hours of shining brass and sewing on patches preceded the day of an R.O.T.C. inspection. How many of us considered the many early-morning practices that went into a musical program? What about the study hall periods that were spent by student artists preparing scenery and decorations for senior plays and pep rallies? Closer to home was the year-round job of putting out a yearbook and newspaper. Most important and best spent of all was the time we put into our studies, the extra time that meant the difference between us passing courses and achieving an education in its fullest sense.

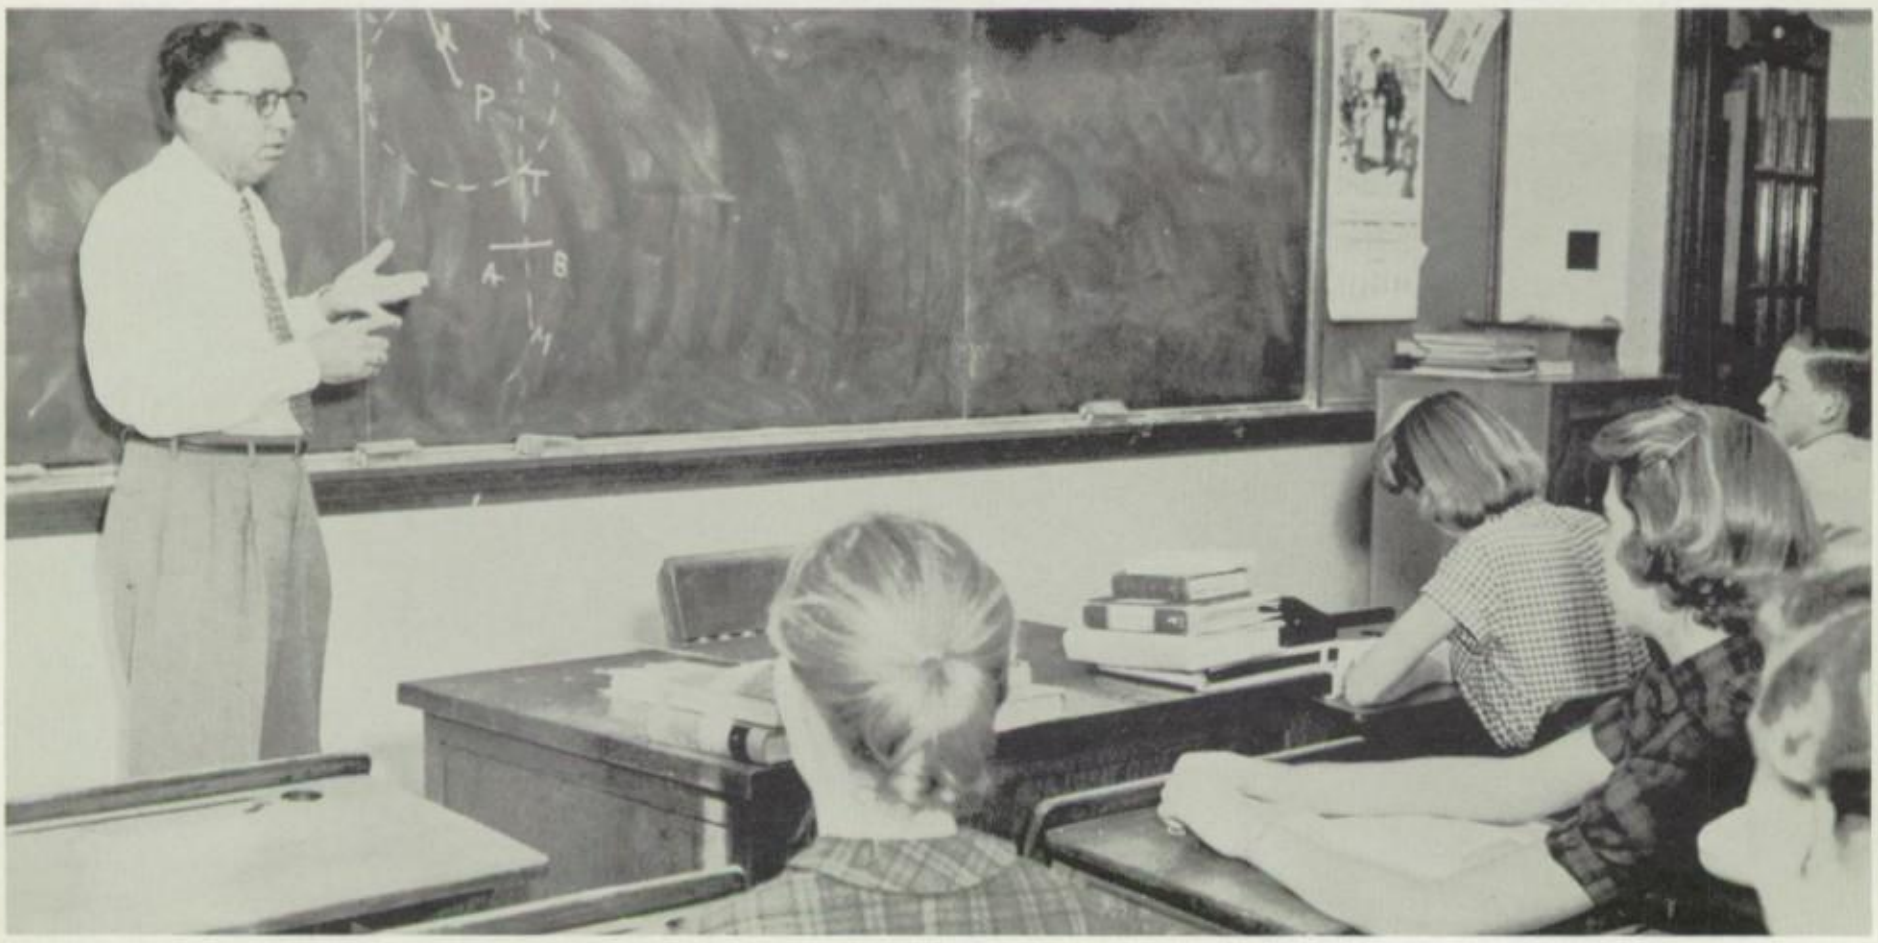
So many everyday occurrences like these have played such an important part in our Hi Park years that in the 1957 Highlander we are proud to pay tribute to that side of our school life that continues to remain "behind the scenes."

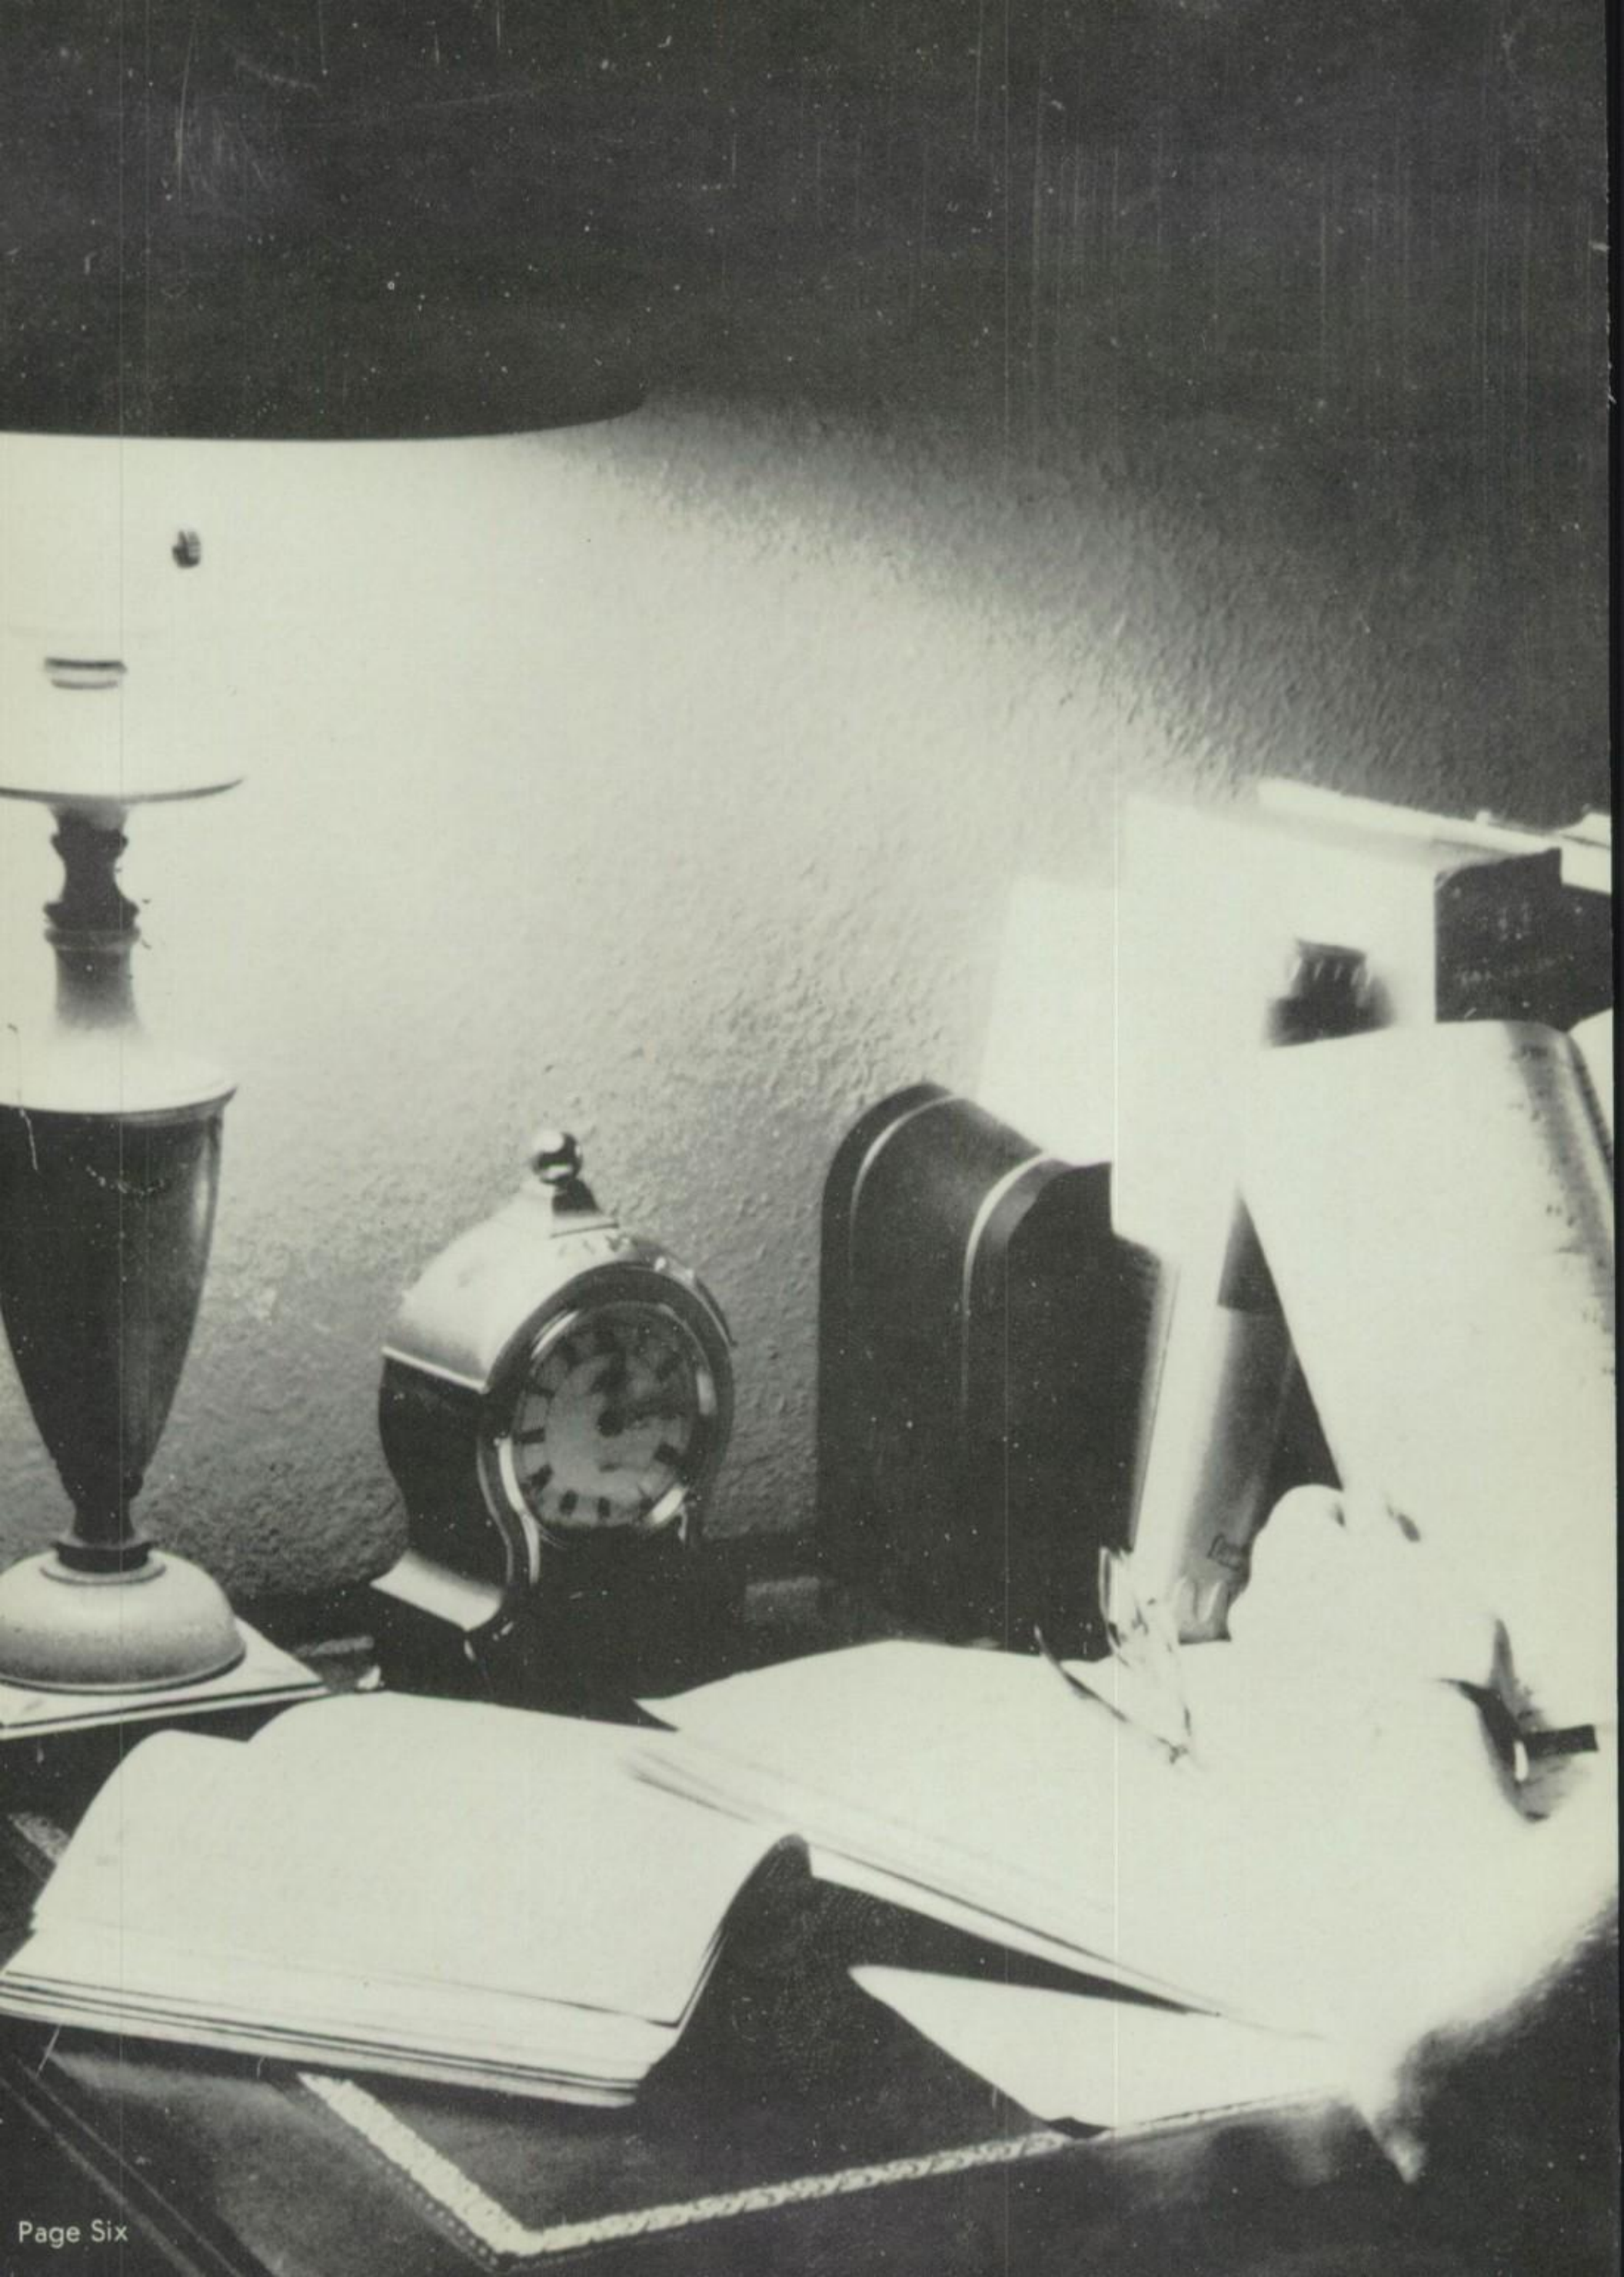
THE 1957 HIGHLANDER STAFF

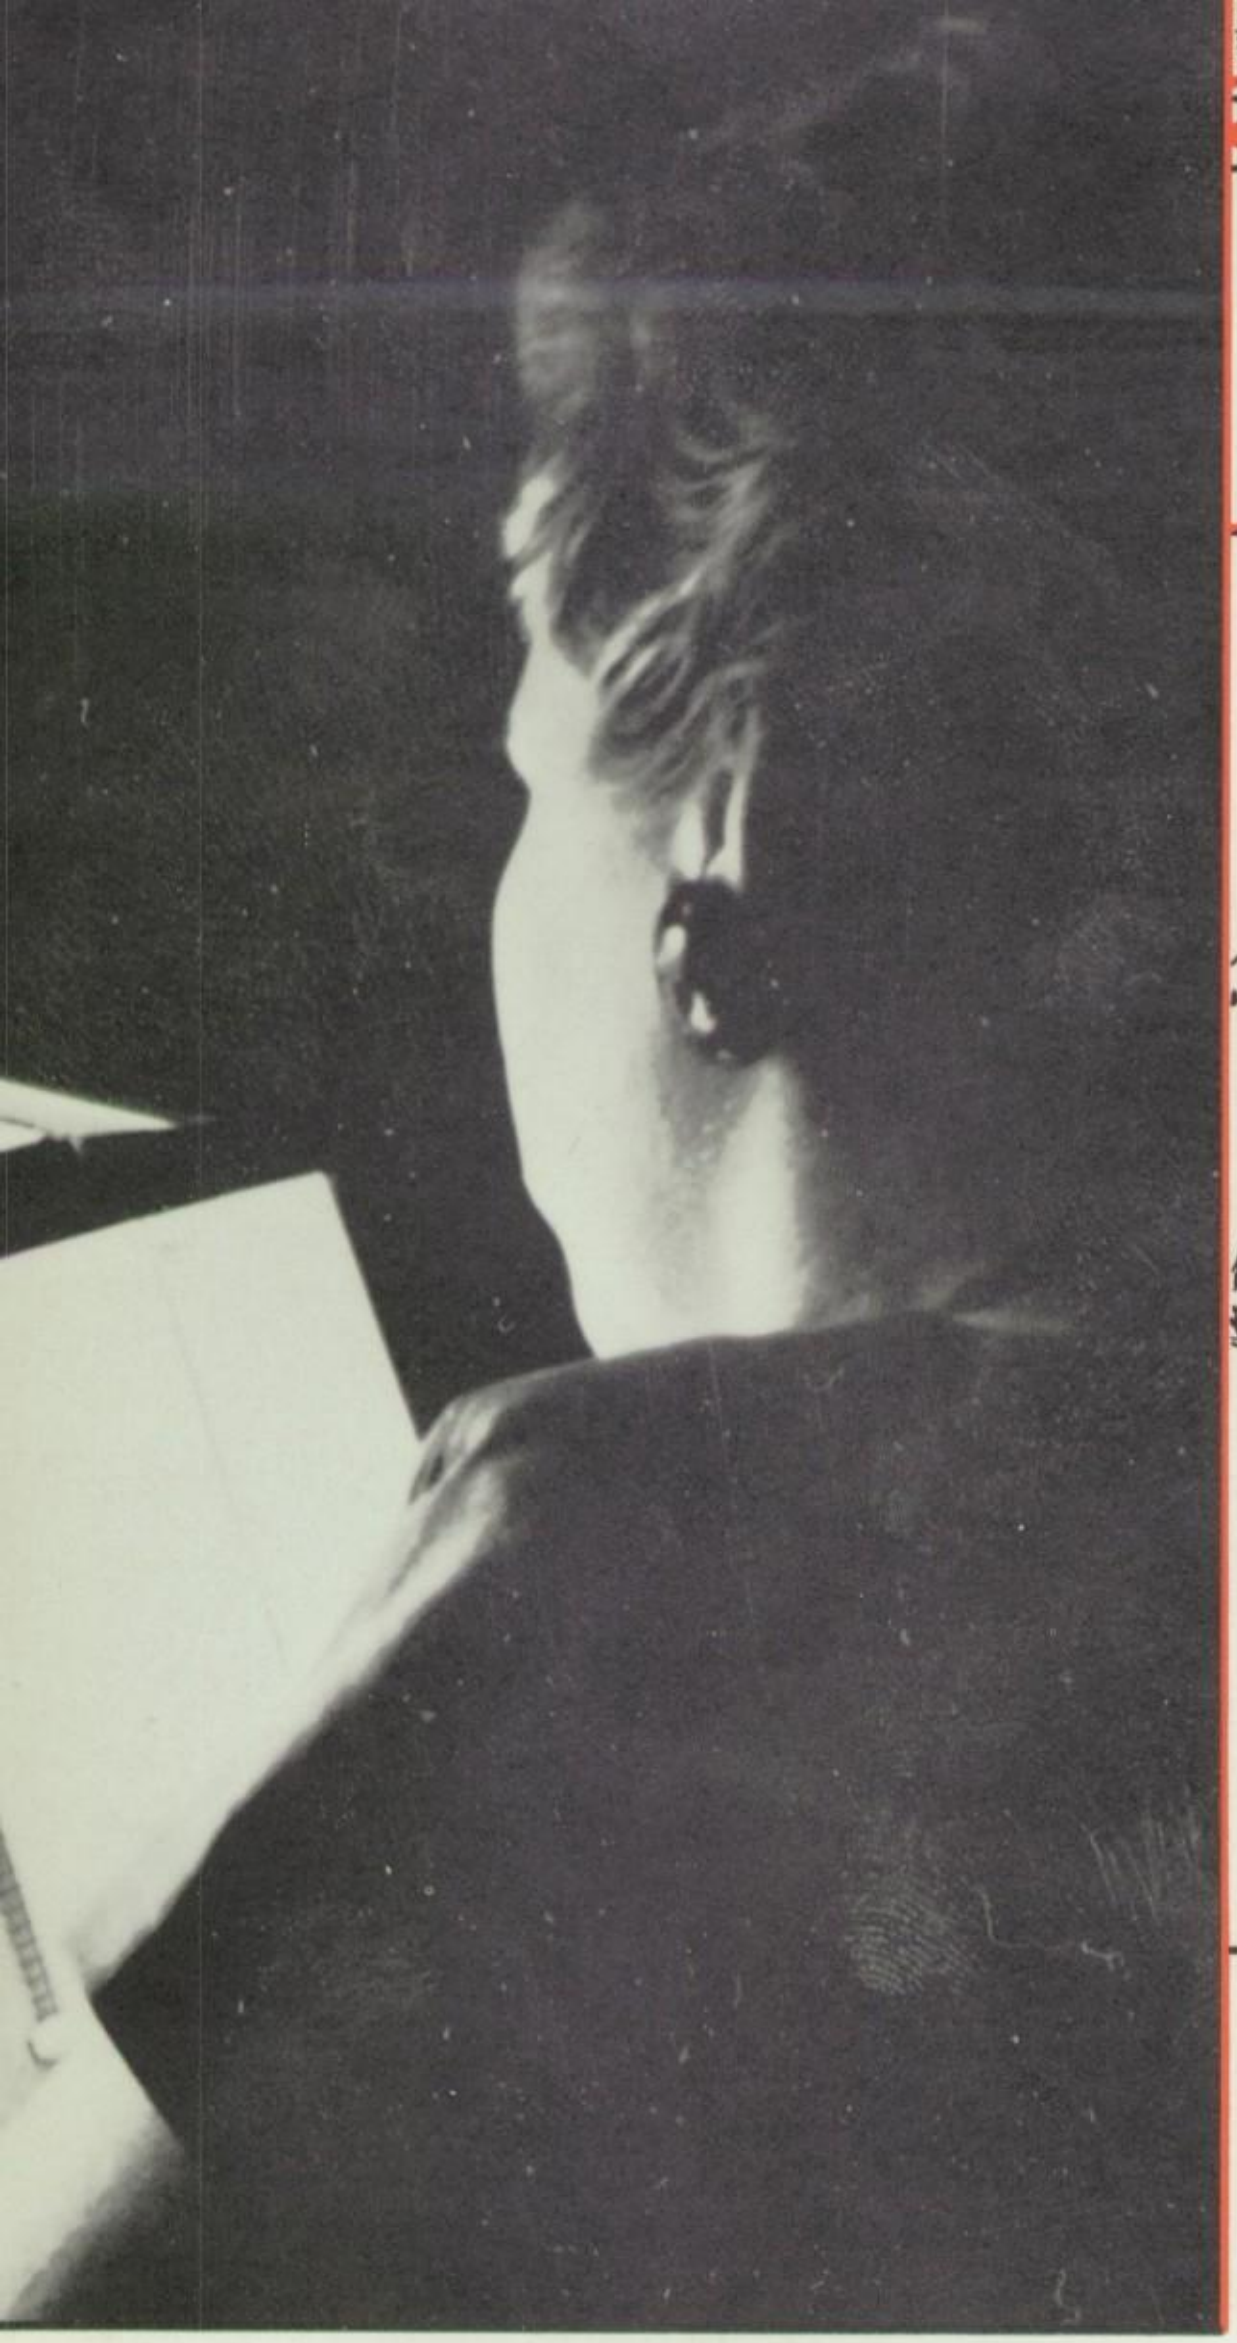


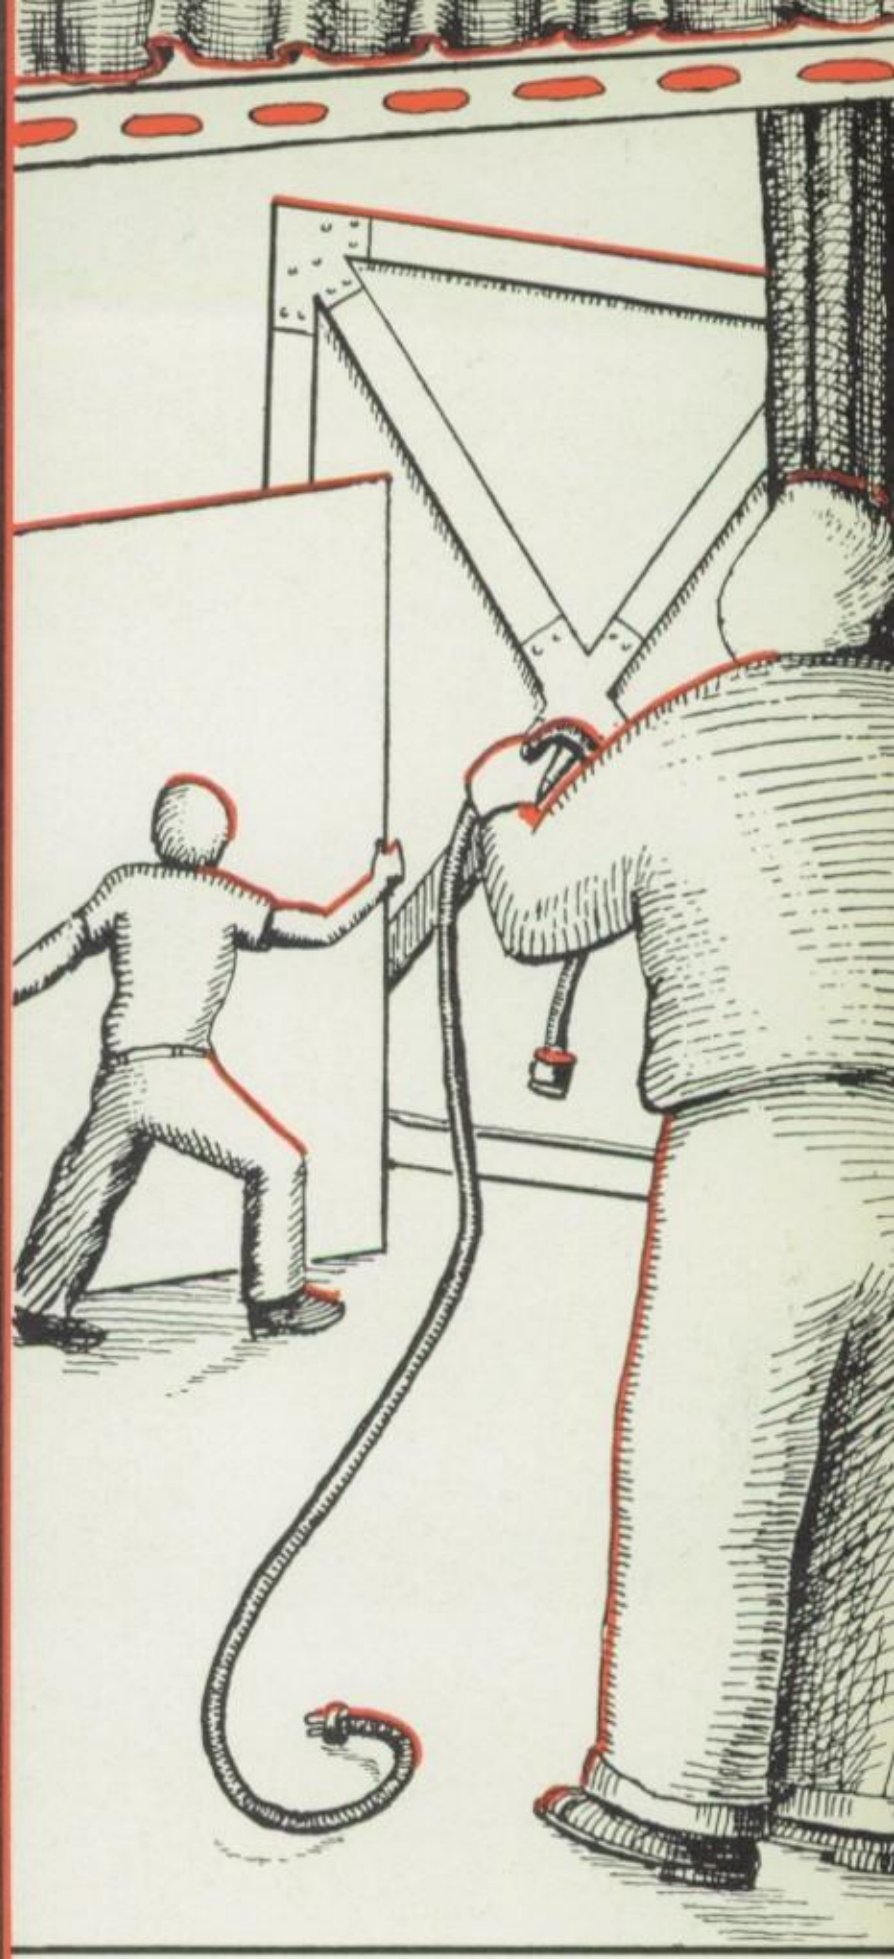
WE DEDICATE . . .

When a teacher can be found who has a rare combination of wit and teaching ability, that teacher always lives in the minds of his pupils as a source of inspiration. Such a combination can be found in a man whom we respect both as a math teacher and a friend. For this reason the 1957 Highlander is dedicated to you, MR. BRUCE JEFFERS.









At night the teacher finds no rest from her hectic all-day job because there is still the grading of papers to be done. The clock ticks away as she marks the papers and records the grades in her book, remembering that two more sets of themes are due tomorrow with report cards to be sent out next week.

Reading, 'riting, and rehearsing are the three "r's" of our English, journalism and speech departments. Improvement in reading comprehension and speed is an aim of the English teachers. Literature and grammar studies round out a balanced English program.

Effective writing in newspaper style is featured in journalism classes. The Bagpipe, Hi Park's newspaper, provides a laboratory workshop for the students.

The goals reached by constant rehearsing in the speech classes are poise, diction, and tonal quality. Students study the fundamentals of direction and production as well as the techniques of good acting.

GRAPHS AND TRIANGLES

Does twelve equal one? Absolutely. Twelve outstanding math teachers equal one superior math department. Illustrating the quality of Hi Park's math department are the five Scot victories in the last seven Hockaday mathematics tournaments. High schools are invited from all over Texas, Oklahoma, and Louisiana to participate in this tournament, which is only one of the activities in the department's schedule.

Each semester diagnostic tests are given to all pupils. The purpose of these tests is to determine student strengths and weaknesses in the math fundamentals.

In addition to the regular mathematics courses Math 8X, a specialized course in calculus, analytical geometry, and algebra, is offered to those seniors who wish to gain further preparation for college mathematics.

Cookies and Cokes are the feature attraction among the math teachers.

Becky McDowell explains the fine art of bisecting angles to Miss Neaves and her geometry students.

SUBJUNCTIVES AND ACCENTS

Are you tired of speaking English? Would you like to add flavor to your everyday vocabulary? It can easily be varied with quips and quotations from one or more of the three foreign languages offered at Hi Park. Four years of Spanish and Latin are offered and three years of French.

The combined enrollment for Spanish, French, and Latin totals over 760 students. The Spanish department has the most pupils although French and Latin are gaining popularity every year.

In our language classes Scots are introduced to some of literature's masterpieces such as Vergil's Aeneid. Pronunciation and grammar are stressed by both written practice and oral drill. Students also learn valuable historic facts and daily customs of the country from which their chosen language originally came.

BUNSEN BURNERS AND FROGS

Curiosity killed the cat, but it is the driving force behind Hi Park science students as they seek to uncover the secrets of science and nature. Responding to the urgent national call for scientists, Hi Park trained 575 students in science classes this year.

Taking the science spotlight in October was a series of lectures presented by Mr. D. C. Evans from the Oak Ridge Tennessee Laboratories. These lectures explained basic processes behind solar energy, space travel, power reactors and use of isotopes.

Outside projects are included in all the science classes. Physicists prepare reports on atomic energy, chemists try their hand at experiments, and biologists are found in the most peculiar places obtaining material for their leaf and insect collections.

Mr. Jenkins demonstrates the effects of nicotine on the human body.

Presiding over an informal gathering of the science teachers is Mrs. Porter, department chairman.

The social studies teachers discuss the film schedule for this year during their monthly departmental meeting.

STOCKS AND CURRENT EVENTS

Scots enrolled in any phase of the social studies department are likely to be exposed to everything from "dabbling" in the stock markets to witnessing mock trials. The department includes courses in the following subjects: civics, the study of government; economics, dealing with the nation's economic system; American and world history, courses concerned with national and international affairs of the past and present. Each subject has special activities. Economics students are favored with several field trips per year to banks and business concerns throughout the city. In order to make more clear the problems of government, civics students enact the basic governmental offices. Twice a year the Hi Park library undergoes a change of atmosphere when throngs of American history pupils settle down to their term theme toil.

Separate from the social science department yet related to it because of their concern with human affairs are the psychology courses offered as electives to upperclassmen.

CHEVRONS AND SPEEDBALL

How to change a tire? That is a problem faced by almost every driver sooner or later. Students of Highland Park safety education classes, unlike many other drivers, learn how to cope with this problem. Even more practical are the rules of good driving and politeness on the road taught to aspiring student drivers.

As the cars of the safety education class roar off into the distance, one can hear familiar sounds coming from the two gyms. The gyms form an important part of our school life. Included in this part of our daily program is an intramural program for the girls and a team line-up for the boys.

About midway between the two gyms is the armory. Now just how many of us can put a rifle together? This is a routine problem for our R.O.T.C. Even more familiar to us is the droning "Hup 2, 3, 4; Hup 2, 3, 4" of the company commander as another class of cadets is marched outside for a period of drill instruction. Drills, tactics, marksmanship, and map-reading—all are taught as a regular phase of the R.O.T.C. training schedule in an effort to produce leaders better fitted to assume responsibility in the future years of America.

Mr. Kennedy explains the difference between the brake and the accelerator to Sondra Sullivan.

Miss Murchison illustrates the push-pass to her third period gym class.

PASTELS AND CHOIR ROBES

From the steady tap-tap of the typewriter to the soft hum of the band saw, students at Highland Park can be found pursuing their vocational and artistic interests. Art students at Hi Park can be found dabbling in water colors or making huge murals to hang in the halls.

The two-dimensional art of the art classes becomes three-dimensional in the metal shop where everything from knives to elaborate wrought-iron grill work is made from hard metal.

For those who do not like to work with anything as unwieldy as metal, Hi Park has a well-equipped woodshop. Jewel boxes, water skiis, and gun chests are just a few of the many popular items that students turn out each year in the woodworking classes.

Almost any hour of the day the steady drone of the typewriters can be heard as students practice to improve their speed and accuracy in an effort to become expert typists. Just down the hall from the typing room is a room where one can hear pupils murmuring account numbers and percentages. Business math students are trying hard to improve their minds for the everyday mathematical world of tomorrow.

Mrs. Smith outlines future plans for the vocational teachers.

Miss Pope and Mrs. Griffith work up a revolutionary musical arrangement while Miss Moore and Mr. Barton serve as critics.

TRANSCRIPTS AND EXCUSES

"I simply have to have English with my best friend," or "If I have chorus third period, then I'll have lunch at 'C' period" are two of the many complaints which the registrar has to deal with in her daily task of unscrambling schedules. Other experts at problem solving are the three counselors for Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors.

Students who are confronted by the frightening aspect of a theme or book report immediately rush to the library, where the librarians are ready and willing to give assistance.

Checking pupils in and out and keeping attendance records is a full-time job. Students who arrive late or leave early must be recorded by the attendance secretary.

"Where was Pansy Cornpone on October 20, 1931?" may not be an actual question asked of the secretaries in the principal's office, but as keepers of the permanent records they could probably answer similar questions in addition to performing numerous other duties.

Administering first aid to cut fingers and giving eye tests are some of the duties performed by the Highland Park nurse. Treating the aches and pains of 1200 students is her daily responsibility.

Displaying caps and gowns for the first time at a Highland Park graduation, officers of the January graduating class listen attentively to the speaker, Dr. Cheatum.

"In the spring a young man's fancy . . . ," unfortunately does not turn to final exams. There is a time for studying books and a time for "studying" other things. Most people find it hard to combine the two, but these two Scots prove it can be done. To those few who can, we say, "Have fun!"

Well, it isn't the Senior Play, but it took hours of rehearsing. The old rivalry between The Bagpipe and The Highlander finally came to life on stage. The funny thing is that this particular play doesn't end with the final curtain, for this scene is characteristic of many friendly rivalries.

"Enter to Learn and Go Forth to Serve" is the symbolic motto etched on the walls of Hi Park. Members of the Student Council employ this quotation in their everyday work. The Student Council's yearly achievements include the sale of football ribbons, publication of the school directory, the Clan, school dances, and most important the encouragement of school spirit.

The Student Council, already presiding over the Texas Association of Student Councils, attended a convention in Oklahoma to run for the presidency of the Southern Association of Student Councils. Hi Park returned to Dallas successful in its campaign. Miss Louise James and Miss Eleanor Thornell are the sponsors of this nationally known Student Council.

SCOT LEADERS MERIT N.H.S. MEMBERSHIP

A dillar, a dollar, a ten o'clock scholar . . . this Mother Goose rhyme does not pertain to the members of the N.H.S., whose membership in this honorary society shows promptness and ability in their work. Inscribed on the key are the words, "Character, Scholarship, Leadership, and Service." These words sum up all the requirements which go into the selection of a National Honor Society member. An outstanding activity in which the members participate is ushering at commencement exercises and senior plays. The N.H.S. sponsors Hi Park's foremost award, the "H" blanket, which goes to the senior boy and girl who are most outstanding in ali their activities.

Quill and Scroll

FLAME OF TRUTH LEADS H.P. JOURNALISTS

Doing copy capers and talking layout lingo are two actions at which Quill and Scroll members claim to be old hands. They also dabble in photography, and proofreading ability is a must. Truly the candlelight ceremony of Quill and Scroll signifies that an aspiring journalist has obtained the highest recognition for a job well done.

The small gold charm of the international honor society symbolizes outstanding work on a publication staff, either business or editorial. The possessor of this charm must be of at least junior standing, rank in the top third of his class, and have done significant work on a publication for a minimum of one semester.

Classroom cartoonists and study hall paper clip sculptors, as well as serious students of the nobler phases of the arts, find an outlet for their individual talents in Tuesday afternoon Art Club meetings.

The span of their activities is wide indeed. During their weekly session they are free to draw or sketch what they please or work on some school project. These projects include the props and scenery which set the stage for student productions, and the decorative displays which are in the hall showcases. The art club is not "all work and no play." They have a semi-annual picnic which is reported by all to be "lots of fun."

"BIG SISTERS" EXTEND HAND TO SOPHS

Varied activities make versatility the Hi-Lite watchword all year round. A typical annual agenda is filled with programs, dances, welfare work, and volunteer service. Membership is open to any girl who desires it.

Incoming sophomores were welcomed by their big sisters with a picnic in the fall and a tea in January.

Other social events were a Mother-Daughter Tea, a Halloween Hop, and a spring formal.

All play and no work would make Jill a dull Hi-Lite; therefore, she is given an opportunity to work through the many committees.

HI-Y MEETINGS FADE MONDAY BLUES

Ranking high among H.P.'s organizations is the Hi-Y, a boys' club dedicated to service.

At their weekly Monday meetings throughout the year members schedule speakers and films to give them programs which are both educational and entertaining.

To begin their year of activities Hi-Y and Hi-Lites jointly sponsor Religious Emphasis Week in the fall.

Also planned annually are two dances for Hi-Y members and their dates.

The Hi-Y encourages the participation of all boys and each year boasts a record-breaking membership.

Footlight fanciers and lovers of the art of Thespis gravitate naturally to the Dramatics Club. Thirty students are admitted each fall by auditions. Other aspiring actors are received at the beginning of the spring semester by additional tryouts. The chief project of the club is the presentation of a group of one-act plays to students and guests. Plays are also presented for Hi-Lites, Hi-Y, and P-TA meetings.

Backstage, directing the Dramatics Club, is Mrs. Mary Crow.

When is a three-cent stamp not a three-cent stamp? When it's a collector's item, of course. The Stamp Club at H.P. meets once a month to discuss their hobby and do some trading on the side. The members have a map which locates the various stamps, and they also treasure an album which is kept up-to-date.

At times a showcase in the front hall contains a display of stamps which the club arranges. In addition to their monthly meetings the Scot stamp collectors are entertained at a party each semester.

Colonel Barton, Glenn Gossett, Edwin Deady, and Charles Jennett examine the new additions to the stamp album.

RHYTHMICAL CLANSME

Hi Park's troubadours and wandering minstrels bear evidence of Scot musical talent as they visit and perform for local civic organizations. High-lighting their extracurricular events this season was a program at the Lighthouse for the Blind.

Highland Park students have an opportunity to hear the choir at its annual spectacular show and in the religious assembly in the fall.

Other special activities which fill the Lads and Lassies' calendar are the operetta Rio Rita in March and such social events as the fall picnic and the spring banquet.

RFORM IN HARMONY

From serious to swing, Hi Park's orchestra masters it all!

Fall enterprises begin with a picnic, followed by an appearance at the Fair, pops and classical assemblies at H.P., participation in the National Red Cross Convention, and performance at graduation. On-stage, Scot musicians appeared newly resplendent in plaid cummerbunds and string ties.

Spring orchestra members joined the All-State Orchestra of Texas Music Educators Association, made a concert tour to Texas colleges, played for the operetta, and concluded activities with their annual spring concert and a banquet.

President Bill Browning gives last-minute instructions to the other orchestra officers.

HI PARK FEMMES TO WIELD RED PENCILS

The schools of tomorrow will probably be staffed by the members of the Future Teachers' Club of today, who learn the ins and outs of their chosen field through films, discussions and speakers. They also become familiar with the advantages and disadvantages of the teaching profession and the opportunities which the field of education offers. In this way Highland Park students train to answer the nationwide call for teachers.

HIGHLANDER STAFF

Litty Jones and Jody Gibbs dramatize a Highlander skit.

Nancy Beth Johnson and Sally Barbeck count the sales campaign ribbons.

One of the nicest things about being on the Highlander staff is having a private (humph) office. No other place in the school is so small yet contains such an assortment of things, people, and semi-secret information. As we review our year's pilgrimage from tenderfoot to experienced journalist, it does seem remarkable that this Highlander has made its appearance!

Some of the pitfalls which hindered our advancement included frantic last-minute searches for irreplaceable material which had been carefully misplaced. Yet after we had found all the lost pictures, typed up all the copy, proofread all the pages, and met all the deadlines, we looked back over the year and reminisced about all the events that gladdened and saddened us.

We of the Highlander staff hope that you will enjoy looking through this Highlander now and in future years as much as we enjoyed putting it together. As the last page was completed, we were filled with exuberant emotion; but deep down in the hearts of all was the sad realization of not working together next year.

On the court, on the gridiron, or wherever the boys of Highland Park gather to participate in sports, there is a never-ending combination of practice and enthusiasm. The wise vigilance and instruction of the coach directs the development of individual athletic ability and helps to build a spirit of cooperation and team honor.

YELL LEADERS SUPPORT SCOTS

Hi Park's hard-working cheerleaders this year have given the school some new ideas which they hope will become part of H. P. tradition in the future. Among these innovations are the big "victory apple" through which the football team walks at pep rallies, new yells, the plaid "S C O T S" sign in the boys' gym, and the Highland Fling performance at football half-time by the four lassies and the mascot. To promote better feelings for the Scots' first year in District 6 AAAA, the cheerleaders participated in exchange pep rallies with Hillcrest High School.

Although yelling at the pep rallies and games and practicing and learning new cheers are among the main duties of the Scot cheerleaders, their work does not end there. Other jobs such as decorating goal posts, planning pep rallies and skits, helping with bus and train caravans, and creating interest in all sports events are part of their goal of creating "Scot Spirit."

Cheerleader sponsors are Miss Gynne Watson and Miss Jayne Murchison.

SCOTS BOAST 11-1 SEASON

SCOTS WRECK RANGERS

In the season's opener some 5,500 fans saw the smooth and potent Scots smother the Jesuit Rangers 69-7. Bill Elkins was the brightest of the many Highlander standouts, scoring three touchdowns as well as turning in a fine defensive game, led by the footwork of Mighell and Fowler.

CLANSMEN PLOW PLAINSMEN

Again the Scots were victorious, roaring back from a 13-12 halftime score to rally with a three TD burst in the second half, clinching a 31-20 decision against Monterrey of Lubbock.

H. P. MAULS MAVERICKS

Leading a host of Scot offensive wonders to a 55-0 rout of the Marshall Mavericks, Richard Mays kicked seven extra points and scored on a one-yard plunge, while the dazzling speed of Johnny Florer accounted for two touchdowns.

HIGHLANDERS LOWER THE HEIGHTS

Two touchdowns behind after twenty minutes of play, H. P. came boiling back with an electrifying combination of every-week star Jack Collins and the spectacular defense of Stinson Jones to chill Arlington 28-20.

BLUE AND GOLD PENS PANTHERS

Point-happy Highlanders cruised to a 40-21 victory over Paschall for their fifth straight win. By a combination of pinpoint passing, a hard-charging line, and breakaway runs, the Blue and Gold remained undefeated.

Seals and Sides combine to pull a Plainsman to the ground in the Monterrey game.

PLAIDSMEN LYNCH LIONS

Disputing past history, Highland Park crushed Tyler 41-0 in a scoring picnic led by co-captain Billy Kennedy.

SCOTS BOUNCE THE BULLDOGS

Initiating their district campaign, the Scots posted an impressive 34-6 victory over North Dallas. This first district win could be credited to H. P.'s two fine fullbacks and to the rugged defensive play of John Rumley and John Seals.

Rumley uses his head to halt Hillcrest.

Collins moves over for a bi-district tally against Crozier Tech.

HIGHLANDERS COOL THE KITTENS

Six players shared in the parade of eight touchdowns as the offensive-minded Scots walloped the Woodrow Wilson Wildcats 59-19. End Jack Lowe headed the strong-armed attack by scoring two T.D.'s closely followed by the fine play of Jackie Sides and Reed Johnson.

CLAN BEATS BOBCATS

Scots put in the first claim for district title in six years with an unimpressive but important 26-12 victory over the Pleasant Grove Bobcats. The Highlanders were held together by the fine line play of Fred Purnell and Ken Vardell.

BLUE AND GOLD HEXES HILLCREST

The Spartan-like Scots proved the age-old rule of war that a good offense is the best defense as they marched past Hillcrest 35 to 6. The Scots' forward march was led by strongmen Bob May and Harry Lynch.

H. P. TAKES TECH

The battling Scots led by Coach Tugboat Jones rubbed Crozier Tech out of the state AAAA playoffs 21-6 in a chilled bi-district game. The Highlander defense holding at the right times and two all-the-way breaks gave the Scots the right to meet Wichita Falls in the state quarterfinals.

COYOTES FUMBLE SCOTS

It was in the Cotton Bowl that 7,500 numb Scot fans watched their team defeated 19-7 by Wichita Falls in a game of cold and dampness. After a terrific first half led by co-captain Phil Woods, the Scots returned to the field in the second half in vain as everything turned for Wichita Falls. Scot determination, spirit, and fight struggled all the way to the final whistle ending a season of which all Scot players and fans could be proud. Together they took their eleven wins and one loss in the fashion of a true champion.

SCOTS TAKE REGION 2 TITLE

Led by Coach Ralph Binnion, the Scots posted a 24 win and five loss record in their 1957 basketball season. After reaching the semifinals in the Cotton Bowl tournament and losing to Sunset by 19 points, the Scots rallied back to win district, bi-district, and gain third place in the state tournament at Austin. By far the best team in many years at Hi Park, the Scots showed with their coolness and composure that they could rescue themselves from danger. Sparked by tall Steve Strange, Dick Mullen, Winnie Knickerbocker, and Charles Pace the Scottie team made an impressive record. Nothing, however, can be denied from the sixth men, Harold Peek, Graydon Laughbaum, Billy Kennedy, and Maury Levy, who added their best to the successful Scot team.

RETURNING STATE FINALISTS STRONG FAVORITES AGAIN

The returning state finalist baseballers got the season off to a good start with a 2-1 victory over Adamson. From here the schedule bills games with Sunset, South Oak Cliff, and Midland.

On April 10 the Scot team, boasting six returning starters, will play Hillcrest to begin their district campaign. With a little luck, their vast experience, and their typical desire, this should be the year for the Highlanders to go a long way.

Much of the season's success depends on the pitching staff, Kennedy, Collins, Grabstald, and Stephens, shown here with Coach Kennedy.

Captain Crain, Coaches Franklin and Kennedy, and Captain Collins have a successful season before them, if all goes well.

Managers, Ronnie Malouf and Walter McDonald, keep things in working order around the diamond.

Coach Franklin, a veteran infielder himself, gives a few hints to infielders Peek, Rutledge, and Rogers (kneeling), and Reed and Crain (standing).

CINDERMAN SHOW SPEED IN EARLY EFFORTS

The Scot track team, which was hurt this year by the graduation of several of its state finalists, began its season with two impressive victories over Jesuit. The team will meet rough competition this season, but will be a strong favorite at the annual district meet April 2 and 3.

Coaches Hightower and Fambro manage a grin, watching the team work out.

Captain Florer might well be sprinting champion of Texas at the end of the state meet in May.

The Linksmen go into action March 16 at Fort Worth at one of Texas' largest meets. From there the clan travels to Lampasas for competition, followed closely by a tournament at Brownwood.

NETTERS PLAN SLATE OF MATCHES

In spite of the fact that the tennis team was much disabled by the loss of national singles champion Ed Sledge, they still have managed to stamp themselves as the team to beat in the district race on April 3.

The returning state finalist doubles team of Winstead and Coe have already won four victories—Odessa, Woodrow Wilson, Hillcrest, and Wichita Falls—in early competition. Combining their ability with that of Payson Willard in singles, Coach Akin plans for a successful season.

Girls' Sports

G.A.A. ADDS TO SPORTS PROGRAM

The Girls' Athletic Association, established this year at Highland Park, completes the already well-rounded girls' sports program.

The new organization strives to interest more girls in the activities of the physical education classes and intramural program and to give recognition to those who have superior ability and show outstanding qualities such as leadership, sportsmanship, and teamwork. The G.A.A. also aims to encourage physical education students to strive harder in the classes for self-improvement.

G.A.A. All-Star teams are selected by the instructors after the intramural tournament in each of the five major sports, which are speedball, basketball, volleyball, softball, and swimming. Participants on the All-Star teams are awarded a felt emblem signifying their selection and indicating the sport. Each girl on the winning team receives a small, gold charm after the championship game.

The officers of the newly-established organization are: Paula Rogers, president; Susan Buck, vice president; Alice Ann Jones, secretary-treasurer; and Carolyn Terry, reporter.

In class play, as a climax to each sport, the outstanding players from each class are chosen by the gym teachers to be members of a class All-Star team. These teams then vie with the class champions for the class winners All-Star championship.

Outside the regular classes, the feminine stars enjoy a fine intramural program. Girls interested in the various activities organize teams to play in either the Monday-Wednesday or the Tuesday-Thursday leagues. At the end of each year intramural medals are awarded to the girls who have met the attendance requirements. An annual spring sports luncheon is held for the winning team members in each sport.

STAMINA AND SPIRIT REQUIRED FOR SPEEDBALL

Speedball, a feminine combination of football, basketball, and soccer, is a rugged game requiring much practice, perseverance and teamwork.

A speedball team is made up of eleven players whose positions are similar to those of a football team, but it includes a goalie. The ball is controlled with the feet until legally converted into an aerial ball. The object of the game is to get the ball across the opponents' goal line. A player may score by a drop kick which counts three points, a field goal counting two points, and a penalty kick counting one point.

TENNIQUOITS STARTS SPORTS SEASON

Tenniquoits, the first sport of the school year, is a game of skill which the girls master after weeks of class play and competition.

The game is played on a regulation volleyball court, and a rubber ring approximately six inches in diameter is used. There are eight players on each side, and tenniquoits is scored like volleyball. The object of the game is to toss the rubber ring back and forth over the net so that the players on the opposing side are unable to catch it.

The basketball season is awaited with much anticipation and met with enthusiasm as one of the highlights of the girls' sports program.

Basketball competition is keen in both class play and intramurals. Girls select team members, elect captains, and appoint managers for the intramurals tournament. Practice is begun weeks in advance in preparation for the tournament; and the winners of the Monday-Wednesday and the Tuesday-Thursday leagues meet in the climaxing championship game, which is played before all the girls in school. This year the Green Shoes came out on top while the World Walkers trailed close behind in the runner-up position.

Ping-Pong

FOLLOW THAT BOUNCING BALL!

Ping-pong, or table tennis, included only in the intramural program, is a favorite sport of many.

Each fall an intramural ping-pong tournament is held, which all girls who are interested are invited to enter. The tournament draws many entrants and is held in the gym. A girl remains in the tournament until she is defeated. The undefeated girl in each bracket then battles for the championship.

Rogers, winner; Truett, runner-up.

Swimming

COME ON IN—THE WATER'S FINE!

The swimming team, coached by Mrs. Barr, was a new addition to the intramural program this year. G.A.A. members are also chosen from the swimming team. Team members have access to the SMU pool, where they work out. Splashers and divers participated in intrasquad meets and also competed against Hockaday and SMU students. The Scot lasses were victorious over both Hockaday and SMU while the juniors came out on top in the Intrasquad competition.

The girls, aided by members of the boys' swimming team, also spent much time in preparation for their annual fall water show.

TENNIS IS THEIR RACQUET!

The girls' tennis team, coached by Raymond Akin, began the season by upholding their fine record of the past.

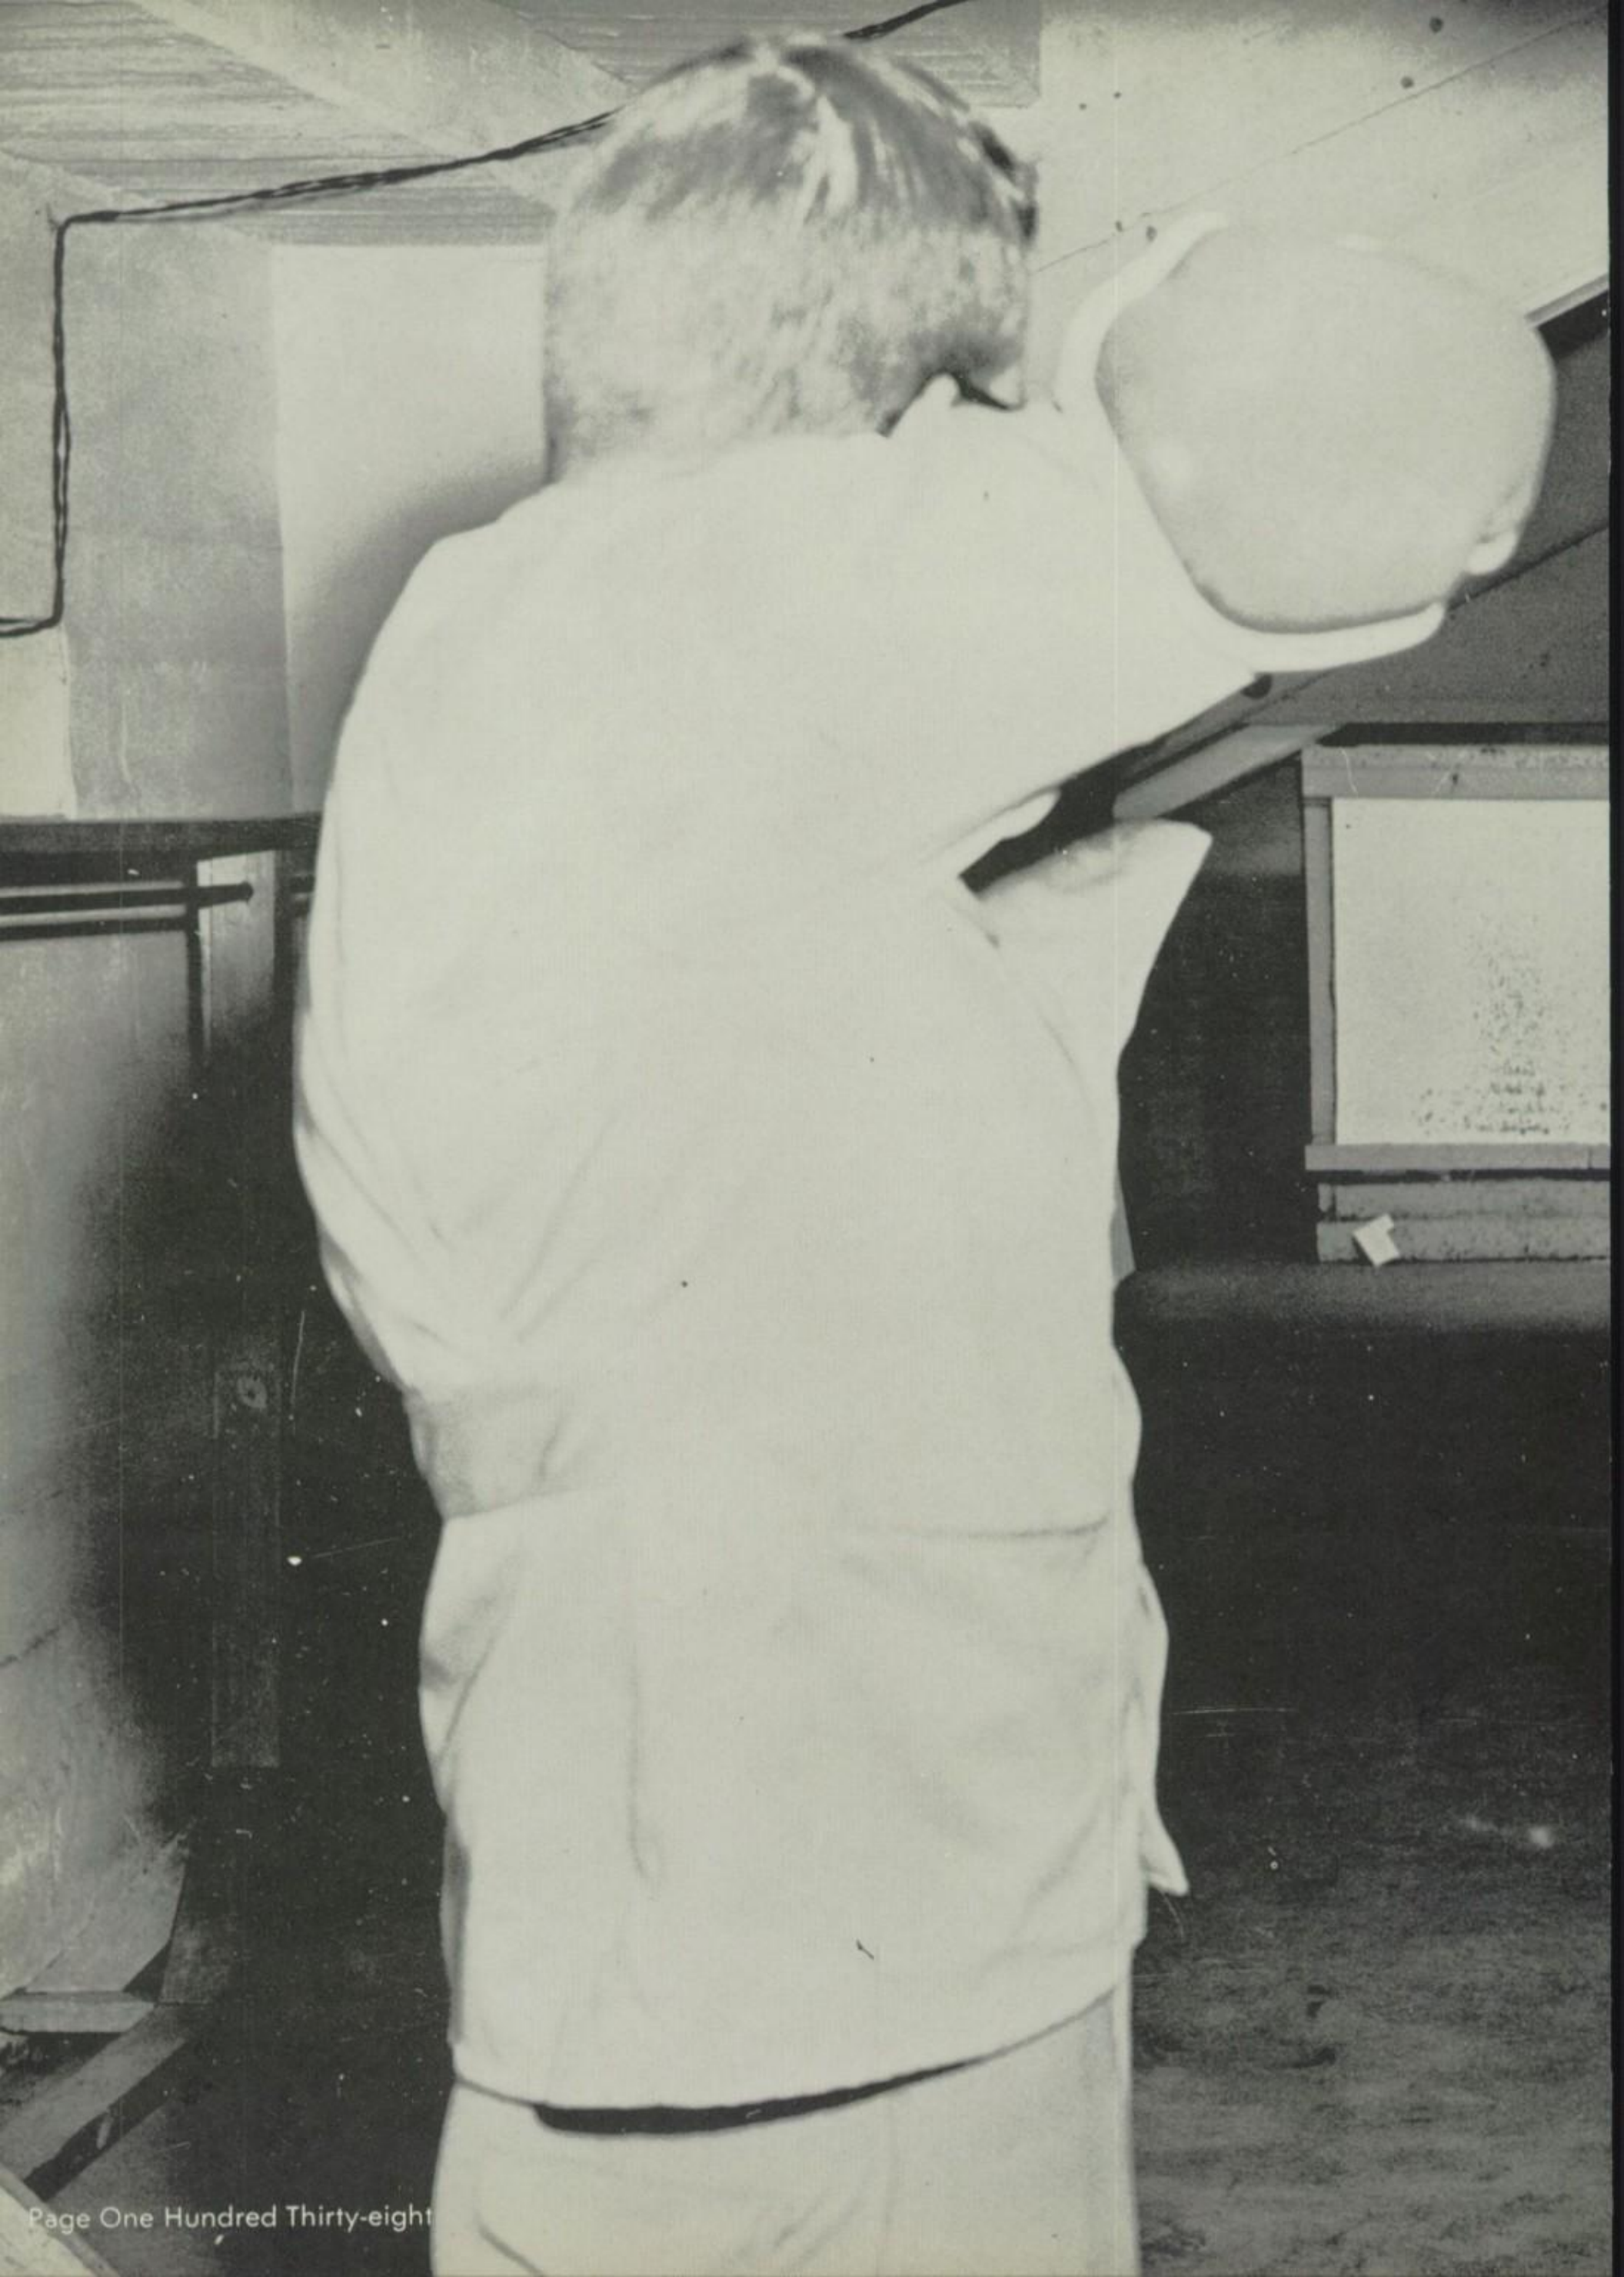
During the fall, the Scot lasses won four out of five dual matches by defeating Greenville and Wichita Falls in exchange matches. Hi Park tied with Woodrow Wilson in the fifth dual match.

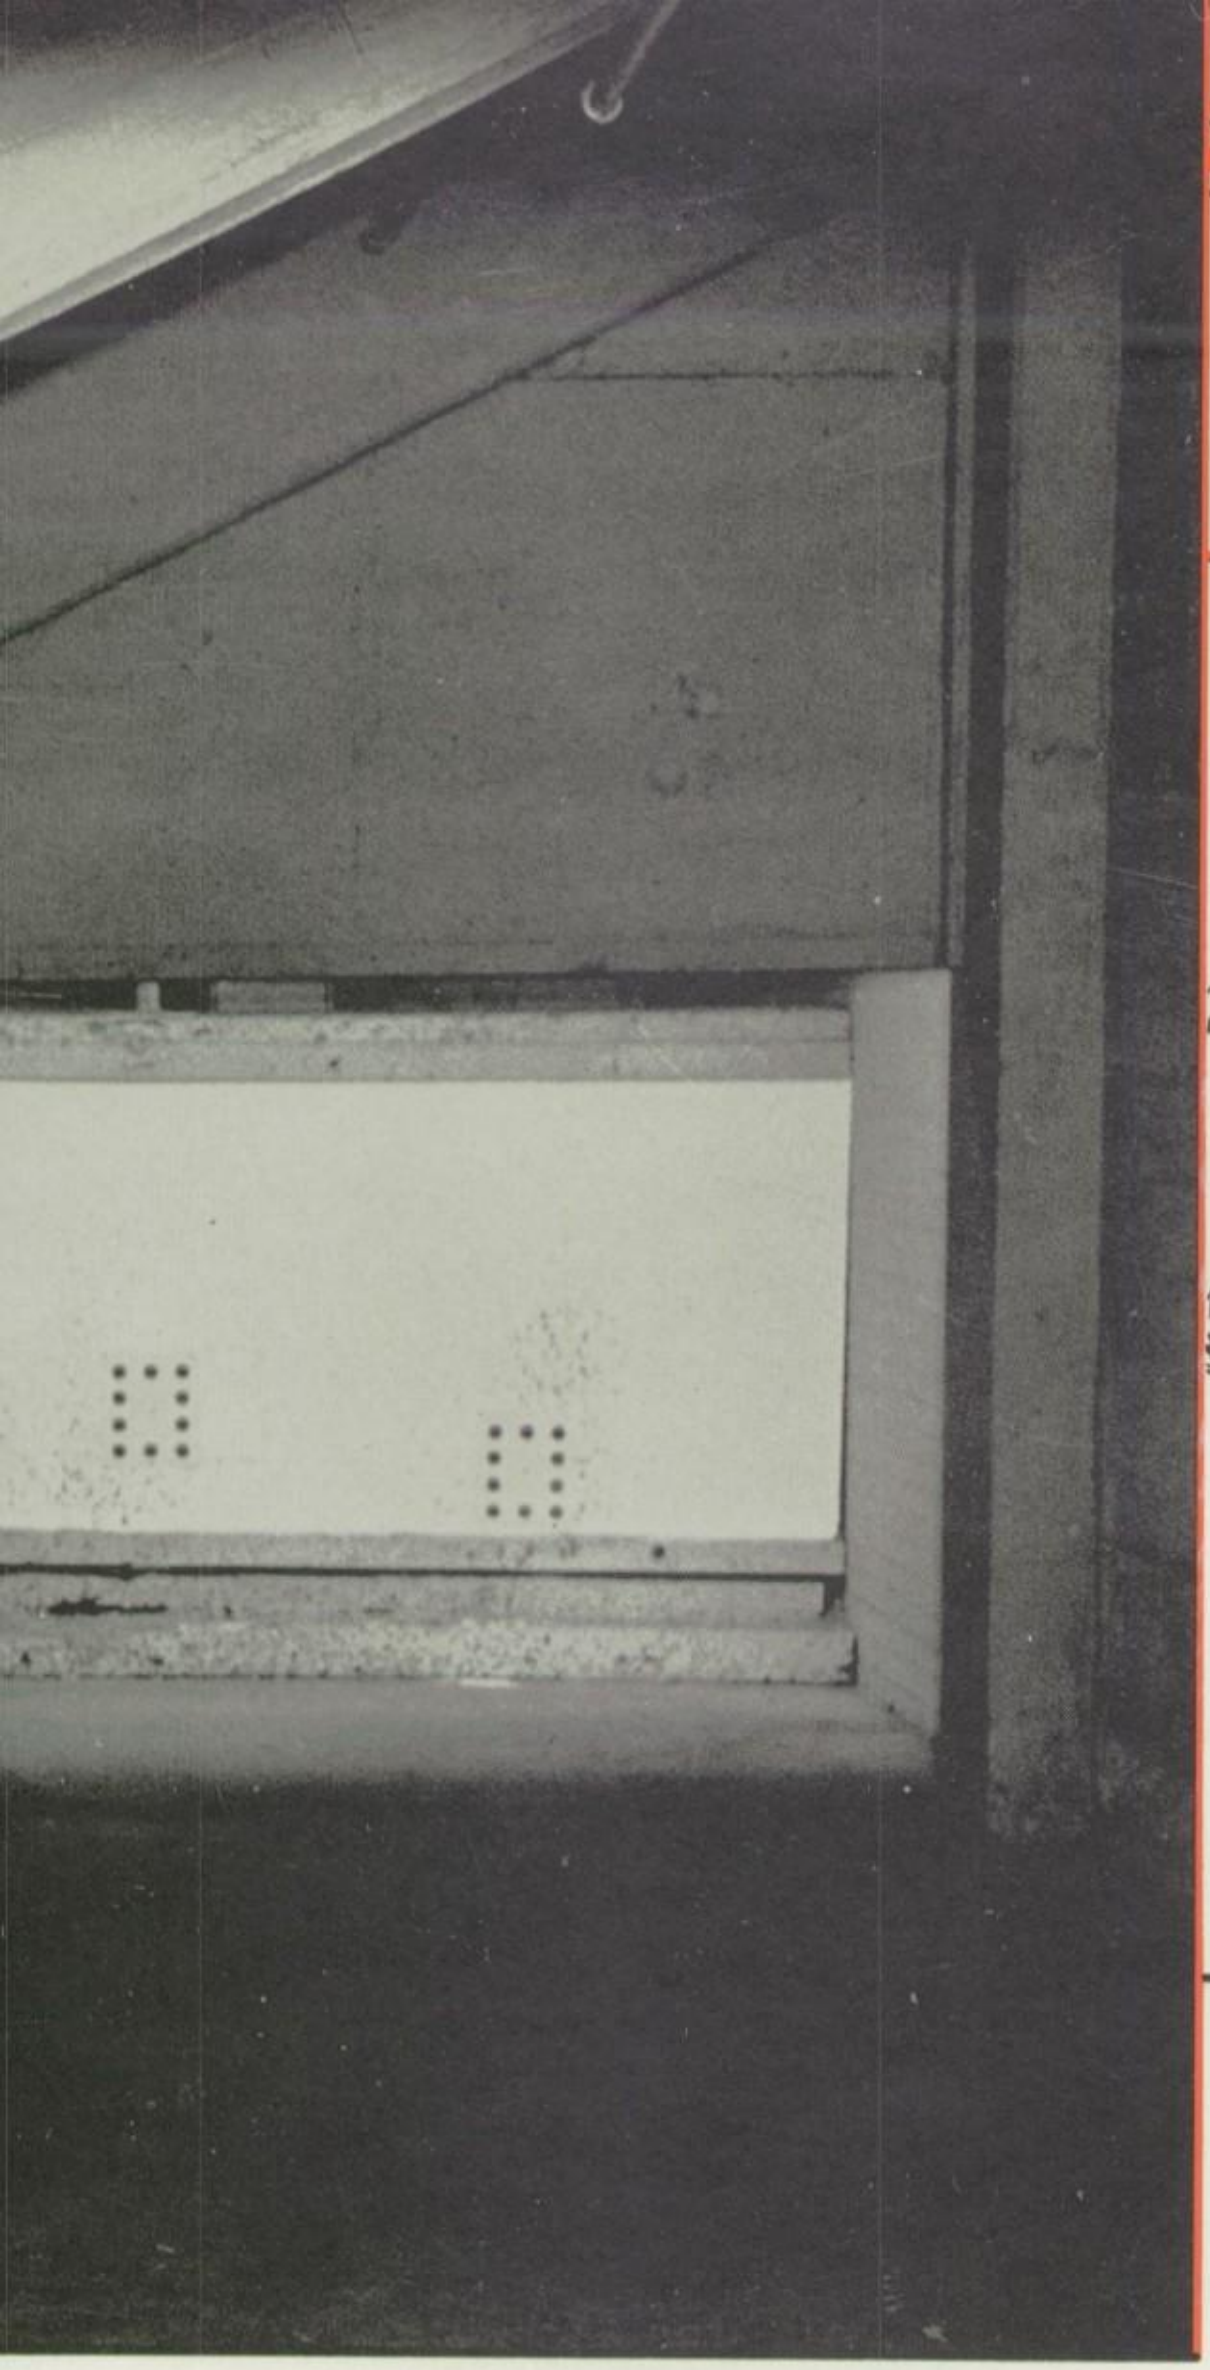
The Scots played a series of matches with Hillcrest, Odessa, Wichita Falls, and Woodrow on February 15 and 16. The tennis team was victorious over Wichita Falls and Woodrow while they ended up in a tie against Hillcrest and Odessa.

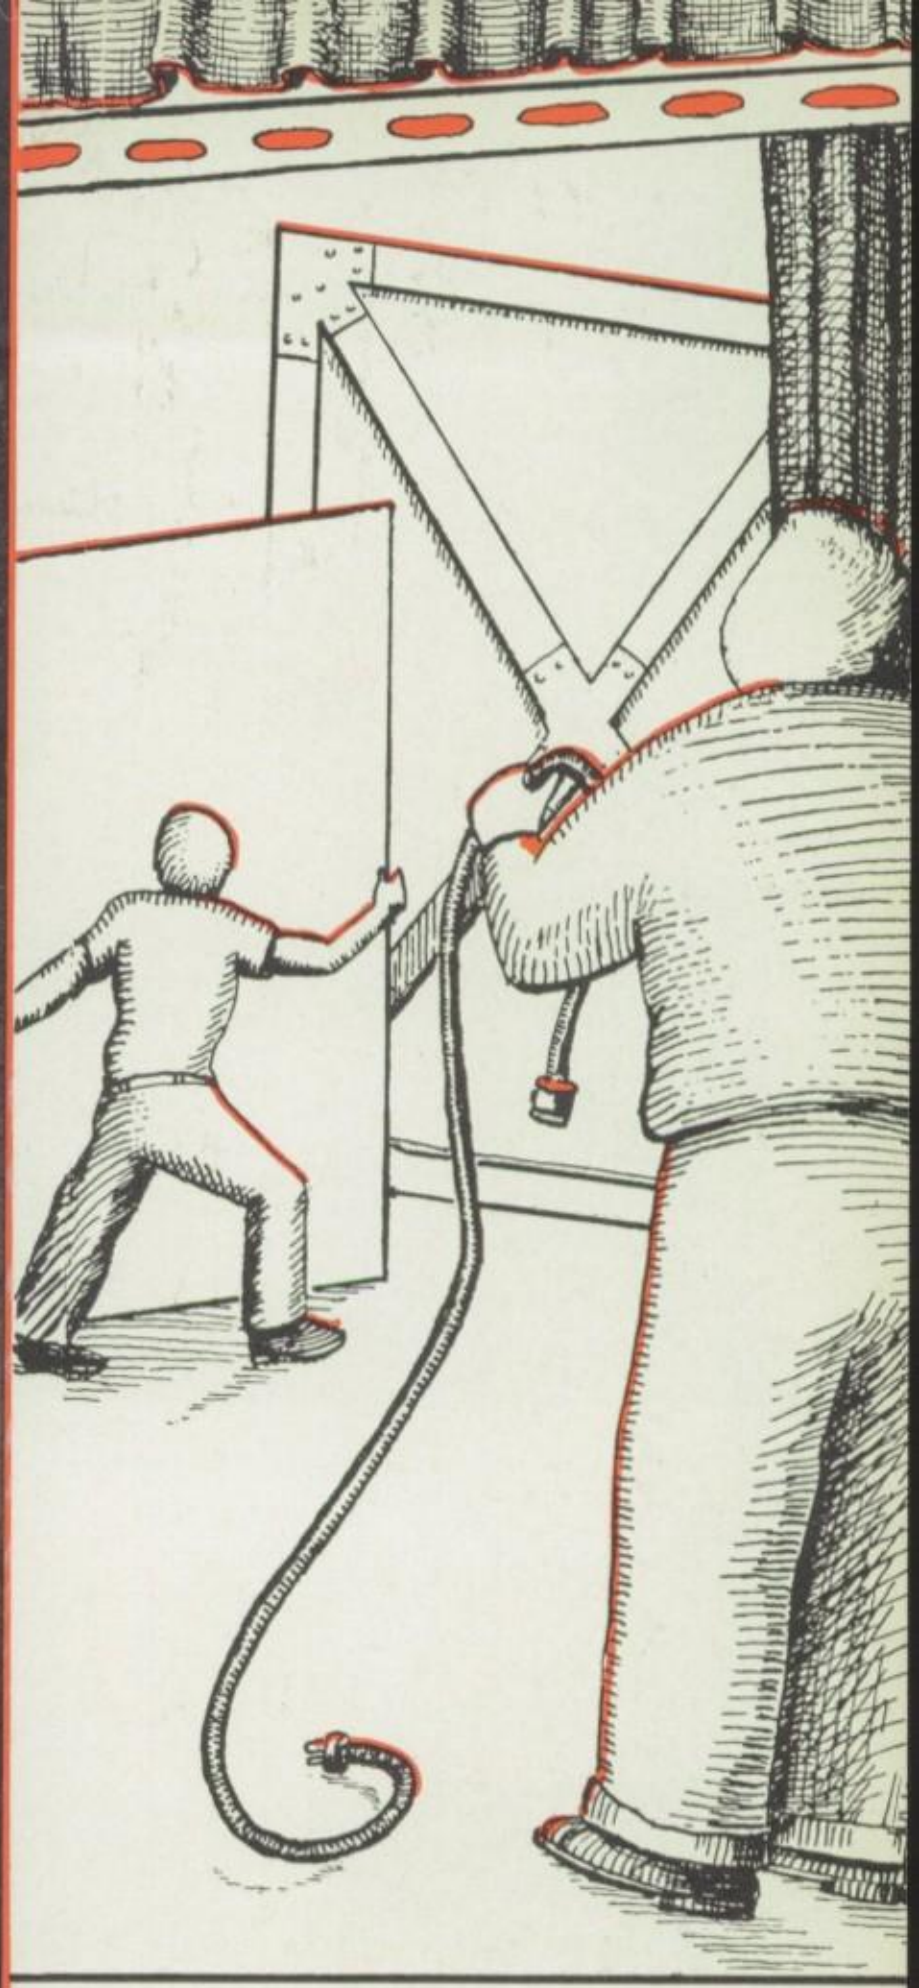
The district meet is slated for April 3; regional will take place on April 12; and the state meet is scheduled for April 3, 4, and 5. The girls' squad is out to win with their sights on a state title.

Pace demonstrates serve as Moody, Curtis, Hart, Rollins, and Van Tassel look on.

Judy Beene and Jane Stotts prepare to play a match.







Three days a week uniformed Scots are a familiar sight at Hi Park, but there is more to R.O.T.C. than the symbolism of uniforms. To the cadet corps, R.O.T.C. is inspiration and preparation for the years of military obligation each boy must serve. R.O.T.C. is also the cool, deadly precision that comes with the practicing of an excellent marksman.

MILITARY

Cadet Lieutenant Colonel John Stuart receives his commission from L. Preston Whorton, member of the school board.

R.O.T.C. PROGRAM DEVELOPS MILITARY SKILLS

The foremost aim of the Reserve Officers Training Corps is to lay a foundation for citizenship within the cadet and give to him basic military training, particularly valuable in later life when he becomes a member of the Armed Forces. In its training program the R.O.T.C. strives to develop habits of orderliness and precision, to instill discipline and thereby respect for constituted authority, to develop patriotism, and to encourage a high sense of personal honor and deportment.

Directed by a Cadet Regimental Staff, the corps is divided into four companies, each approximating in structure the organization of a regular infantry rifle company. Within the R.O.T.C. are the following specialized organizations: the Saber Club, made up of officers; the Drill Team, composed of cadets outstanding in drill performance, and the Rifle Team, whose members are among the top shots in national and local competition.

The varied activities were directed this year by the Commandant of Cadets, Commander Floyd R. Hightower, assisted by Major Newman F. Casey, M/Sgt. Chester A. Potratz, SFC John D. Taylor and M/Sgt. R. C. Dudley.

THE FALL REGIMENTAL STAFF—Kneeling: Bill Browning, John Stuart. Second row: Tommy Bacon, Mike Greer, Robert Kroney, Dan Webster, Major Casey.

THE SPRING REGIMENTAL STAFF: Bob Gaines, Tim Cullum, Denne Sweeney, Bart Hayes, John Bence.

MILITARY BAND MARCHE

One of the most versatile of all school organizations, the Highlander Band, provides entertainment at the football halftime shows, promotes school spirit at pep rallies, furnishes martial rhythms for the weekly R.O.T.C. parades, and adds glamour and stirring music to various civic parades and affairs. Durir- .ne year the musicians present several concerts with all types of music. Emphasis is placed on the improvement of the individual bandsman.

The repertoire of the group includes all types of music—from symphonic to light concert, novelties, and jazz—and thus provides a well rounded experience for all members. Several trips for concert and athletic events contribute to the morale of the band.

N HALF-TIME ROUTINES

The Grenadier Guards, better known as the Drill Team, and the Rifle Team are two of the most important groups in the R.O.T.C. One of the most glamorous duties of the Drill Team is forming the Honor Guard for the Regimental Queen and visiting officials. Their annual finale, the Wozencraft Competition, comes in the spring. Participation in the Drill Team is voluntary.

Membership in the Rifle Team is limited to those who have qualified as Expert riflemen. Riflemen enter several city-wide matches and national competition. Hours of practicing take place for the team members to acquire the steady aim required in the matches.

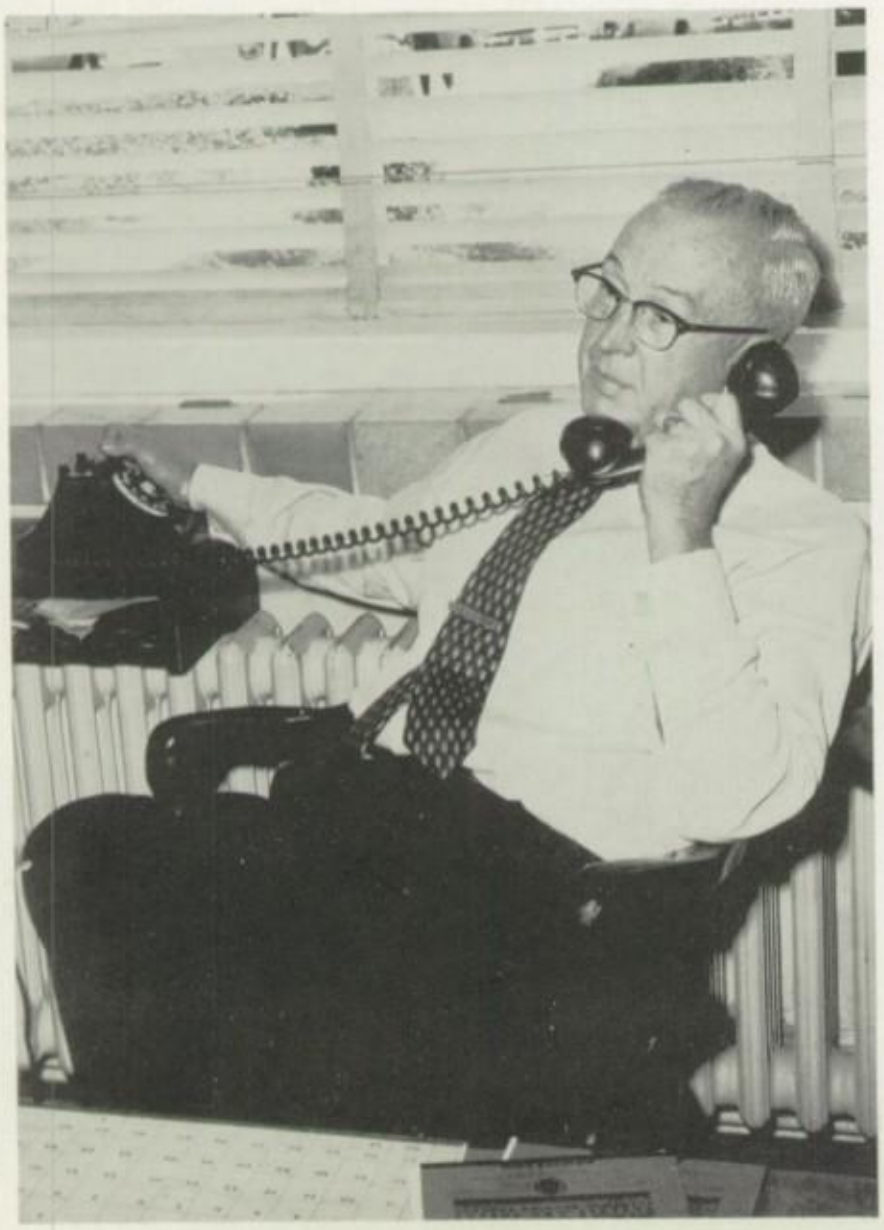
"A picture is worth ten thousand words," it has been said. Some of the pictures contained herein may be worth more, but pictures do not create themselves. It takes time, a good photographer, a sympathetic creative ability, and, as we see here, hours of patient darkroom work. Oh yes, a camera and film are needed also.

CLAN CANDIDS

A familiar spectacle to all Scots is a slightly modified version of "the little red schoolhouse."

ON SEPTEMBER 6 A CATASTROPHE BEFELL US . . .

One of the chief executives of Highland Park is Vice Principal Mr. Bowlby.



Midget mascot Kathleen Cuellar glows with excitement at the prospect of another football game.

Guess who won! Victorious Scot squad rushed onto the field after the 41-0 score over Tyler.

More than 600 Scots flocked to Marshall to see the Golden Avalanche topple the opponents 55-0.

"Mmmm—is that fish I smell?" thinks a starved sophomore.

Lots of concentration was used as the committee in charge of pep rally skits met to discuss the plots, people, and plans for each pep rally.

. . . SCHOOL STARTED

"Get in there, Scots!" Art Jones, out with injury, talks to Tommy Ratliff at the H. P.-Arlington Heights game.

"Too pooped to pop," Cheerleader Sylvia Cuellar is exhausted but can boast of a job well done.

SCHOOL ACTIVITIES MULTIPLIED . . .

They don't really hate each other! Pete Weil and Nancy Maxwell pose picturesquely.

Four members of the Girls' Sextet close the October 4 program given during Religious Emphasis Week by the Lads and Lassies.

The mass disorder of the Bagpipe staff is shown on Thursday afternoon before the Bagpipe goes to press.

Suzanne Wimmer, Barbara Perry, and Nancy Randall won recognition for their artistic talent in the Hi-Lite poster contest.

Editors of H. P.'s student directory, The Clan, are Mary White and Carol Lang, working toward a deadline.

. . . UNTIL SIX WEEKS GRADES

Miss Flora Lee Pope helps Mary White and Bill Skeeters on a song before a Lads and Lassies program.

The highest award of achievement is the National Honor Society Blanket Award, which went to Anne Hoopingarner and John Stuart in the fall of '56.

Scot cheerleaders led the various Hi Park teams to great victories by their rousing rallies.

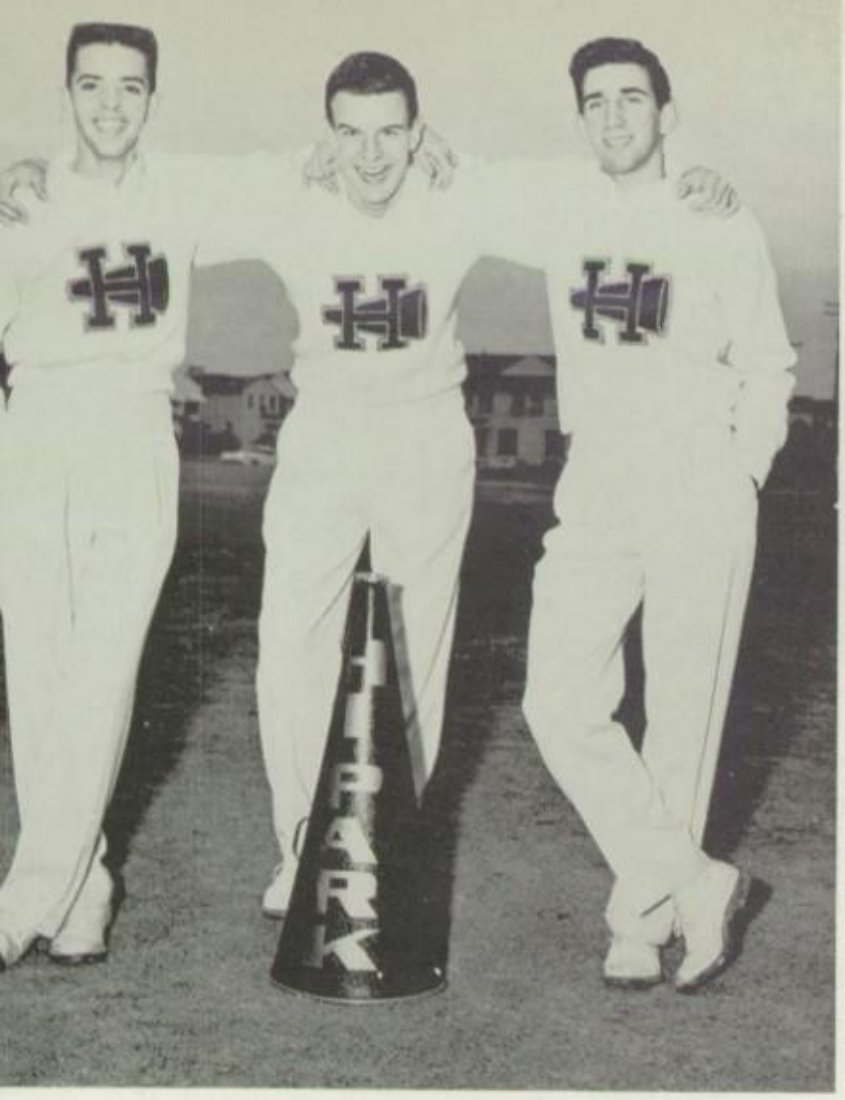
The five nominees for Powder Bowl king, accompanied by their escorts, await the announcement of the winner as Nancy Jean Olds brings the crown.

Junior team members Judy Alexander, Shirley Dawson, Jane Crockett, Carolyn Henrich, Karen Williams, and Jan Hemphill huddle to discuss strategic plays.

GIRLS TACKLE FOOTBALL PLAYS . . .

"Practice makes perfect," say senior squad "men" Kay Conrad, Ann Lewis, Jinky Moore, and Sue Settle.

Senior cheerleaders Earl Howells, Fred Ligon, Jerry Martin, Jimmy Beakey, Finis Grinke, and Steve Strange led the seniors to a rousing 7-6 victory.



Herbie Weitzman, Graydon Laughbaum, and Billy Browning model their warm sweaters worn at winter games.

Margaret Yeagley is "beat" after three years at H. P., but the happy glow comes from being a senior.

Queen of the Fall Regimental Dance Susan Silberberger reigns supreme.

. . . TESTS AND HOMEWORK

Candidates for Hi-Lites offices Caron Waterhouse, Barbara Buchel, Prissy Adams, Susan Silberberger, and Betsy Transou display their handiwork on posters.

Shirley Dawson slaves long hours at the sewing machine for homemaking class.

HOMECOMING BROUGHT A QUEEN . . .

At the Hillcrest game Scot cheerleaders and six Highland Flingers pose for the cameraman.

Coach Franklin helps the boys over into the end zone from the bench.

Phil Browning displays a look of intense concentration at the Lads and Lassies fall picnic.

Coordination exercises were the order of the day in girls' gym classes, accompanied by creaking joints and aching muscles.

Two new math teachers joined the department at midterm, Miss Merrill Smith and Mr. John Baskin.

Five lassies — Sylvia Cuellar, Ann Barbeck, Ellen Elkins, Nancy Beth Johnson, and Nancy Jean Olds — vie for homecoming crown.

A member of highest royalty was Nancy Jean Olds, queen of H. P.'s first homecoming.

. . . AND A NEW TRADITION

The Senior Trio, Kay Conrad, Blanch Butler, and Jane Brown, voice one of their new arrangements.

One can almost hear the wheels grinding as these Scot students take the competitive scholarship tests.

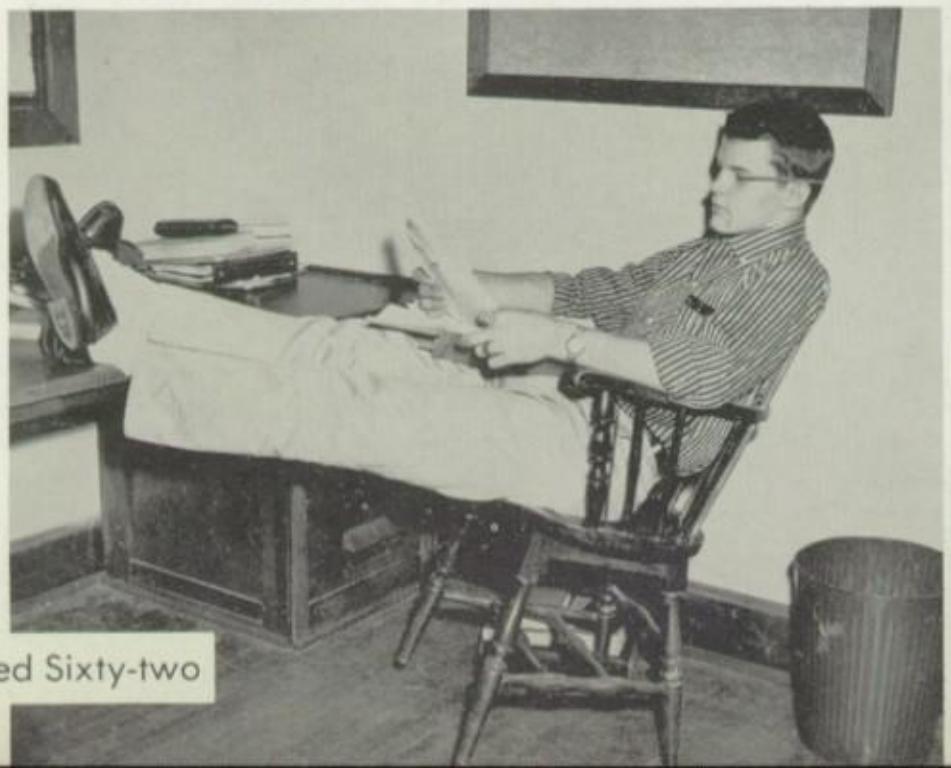
Barbara Huguley, Vivian Jeffers, Layne Sewell, and Prissy Adams manufacture costumes for Lads and Lassies Christmas program.

Tommy Ratliff discusses game strategy with the press box at the Tyler game.

Gray skies and cold weather foreshadowed a gloomy day for the H. P.-Wichita Falls game.

FOOTBALL FLOURISHED WHILE SENIORS REHEARSED . . .

Careful contemplation is seen on the countenance of Denne Sweeney preceding a Highlander deadline.



Miss Murchison seeks out future Scot cagers by instructions to gym classes.

Bette Bray, Barbara Lehde look on as "Dr." John Stuart examines Mary Ashburn's throat.

. . . FOR THE SENIOR PLAY

Murder, intrigue, and mystery stalked the halls of Hi Park as January graduates rehearsed senior play roles.

Presented November 17 under the direction of Mrs. Mary Crow, Sinister Street featured Don Dye as Descius Heiss, the worried shopkeeper; Bette Bray as Descius' beautiful daughter, Margaret; John Stuart as Margaret's naval doctor fiance, Robert Davenport; and Finis Grinke as Archie Fellows, one-time shopboy for Descius and now his blackmailer.

Providing comedy relief were Mary Ashburn as Mrs. Polasky, Descius' housekeeper; Jimmy Brown as Louie Morelli; and Sandra Kriss as Sadie. Rose Lee Ikler played Mathilde, Descius' old-maid sister; and Barbara Lehde was Joan, Margaret's best friend. The inevitable policemen were presented by David Hodgdon and Aron Nance. Earl Howells headed the stage crew while Carol Wilson held the position of assistant director.

Bette Bray and John Stuart portray a happy couple in the November senior play.

The entire cast of Sinister Street is amazed to discover the criminal's identity as Descius Heiss, characterized by Don Dye.

Captains Bill Kennedy, Phil Woods, John Rumley, and Bill Elkins view their newest-won trophy, held by Coach Jones.

GRADUATION FESTIVITIES INCREASED EXCITEMENT . . .

Camera-shy members of the football squad and their dates grudgingly interrupt their shrimp cocktails for the photographer.

Next year's football co-captains, Jack Collins and John Seals, demonstrate extreme cases of stage fright.

The old proverb "see no evil, hear no evil, speak no evil" is demonstrated here, but someone isn't playing fair.

Coach Binnion lectures his championship team on some of their plays.

Herbie Weitzman and Rose Lee Ikler test their talent at the mid-term graduation dance.

. . . AND SADNESS

Ruth Dawson and Miss Montae Imbt slave over flowers for Hi-Lites' spring formal.

Sally Teeple and Joan Gregerson seriously consider the true meaning of "He said, and I said."

Mary Lee Jones caters to Roman ladies Mary Ann Pondrom and Sally Behannon at the Roman banquet.

Right: Mr. Greer demonstrates the hows and whys of mechanical drawing.

Sally Barbeck and Nancy Giller add finishing touches to Highlander copy before the March 15 deadline.

AFTER MID-TERM EXAMS, WE TOOK A DEEP BREATH . . .

Newly-elected Hi-Lite officers Betsey Transou and Peggy Davis enter the Hi-Lite office.

Sue Settle looks thoroughly surprised at seeing the Highlander cameraman in the Bagpipe office.

Help! Senior Linda Kemp is terrified as an avalanche of valuables, stored up carefully for three years, descends from her locker.

The art and science of woodshop is carefully displayed by Richard Mays.

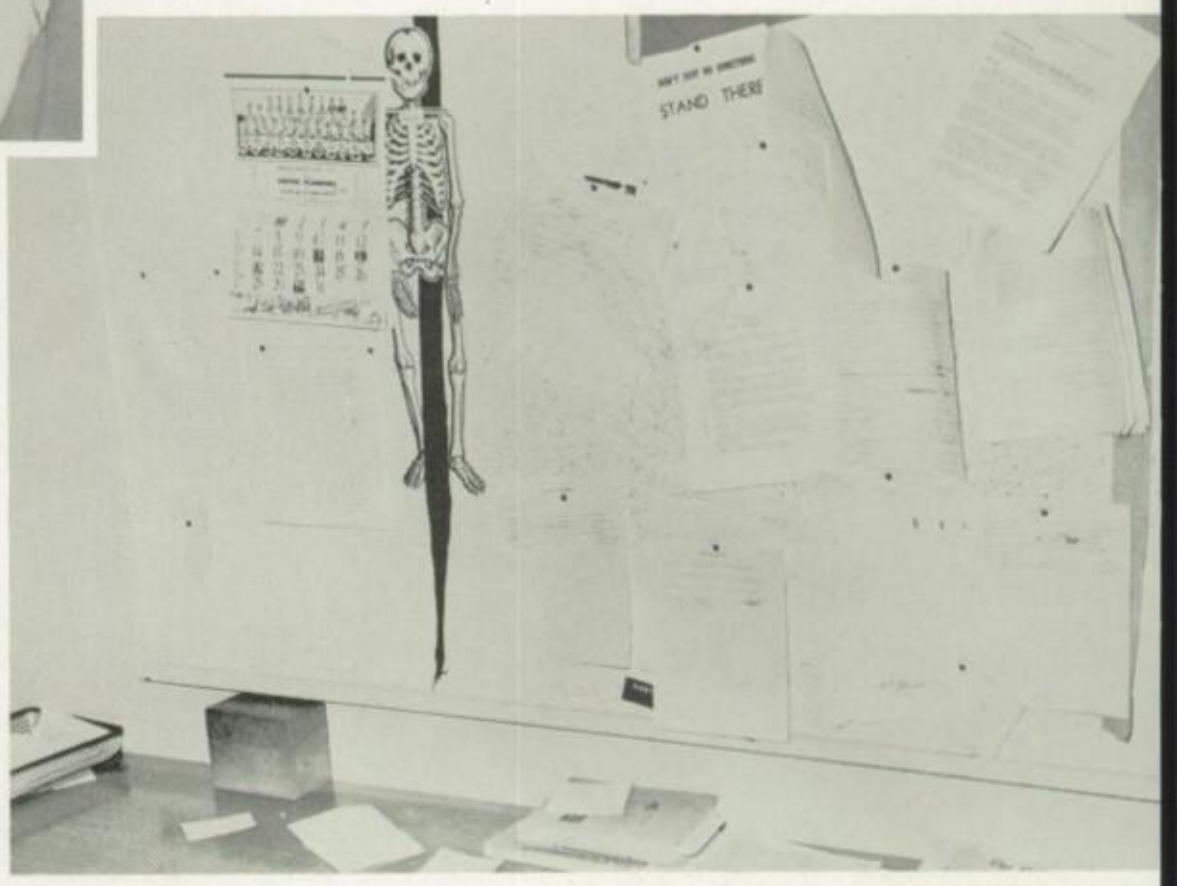
David Hodgdon, Russ Hawn, and Mike Greer employ all possible methods to encourage a typical Hi Park hot rod to go.

Coach Tugboat Jones watches intently as Scot squadsmen work out in spring training.

. . . AND STARTED ALL OVER AGAIN

Harry Lynch, Ann Hood, Linda Byrne, and Mike Collins take time out for refreshments after school.

Carole Meletio sniffs apprehensively as she opens the oven door in the Home Economics room.

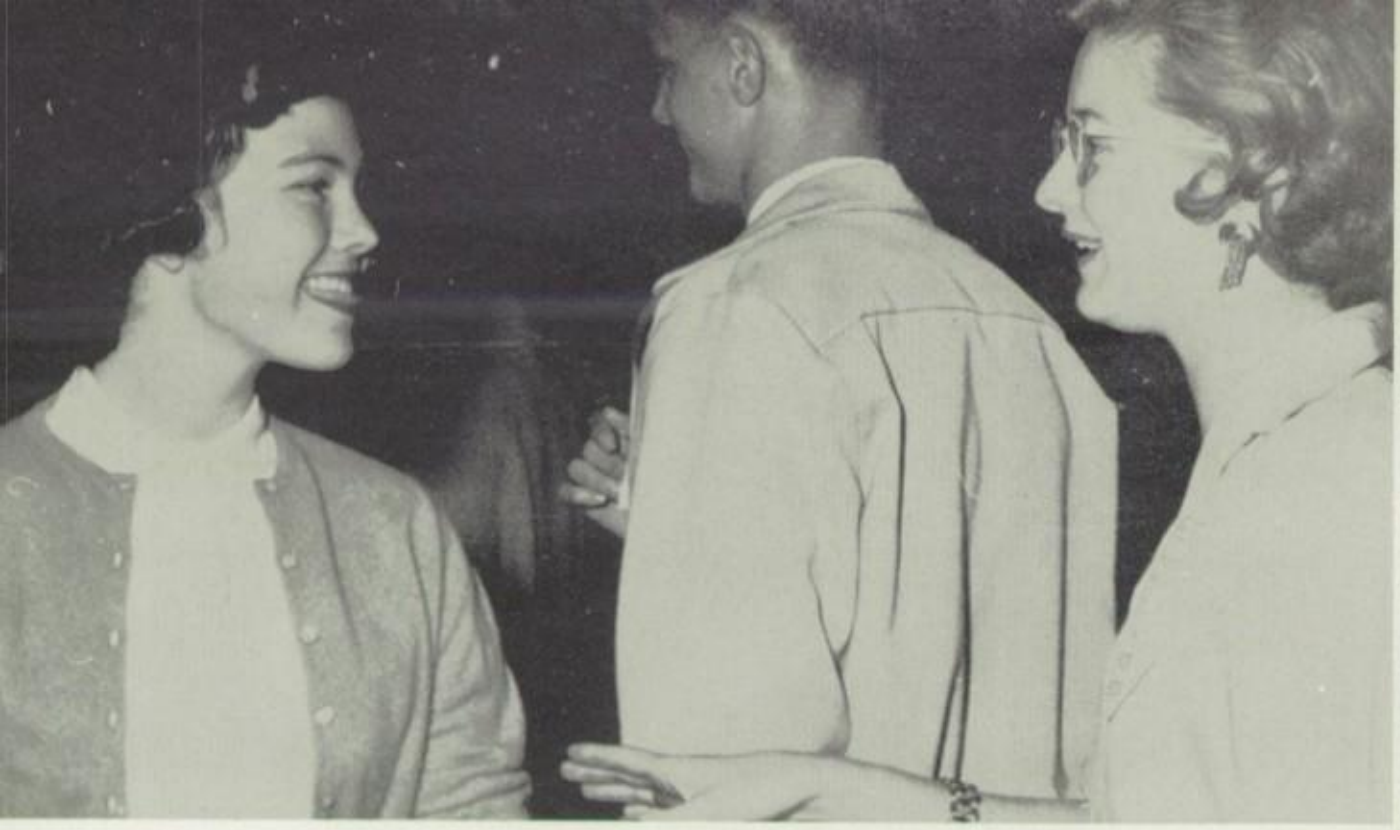


A. MacTavish Skeleton, custodian of the Bagpipe Office bulletin board, solemnly carries out his important duties.

SPRING ARRIVED WITH ROMANCE

New sophomore Patty Alexander longs for a road map as she hunts for her next class.

Mrs. Crow and Jody Gibbs discuss the casting of "Pygmalion."



At Denton Linda Byrne, newly elected Secretary of T.H.S.P.A., smiles happily at congratulations from another school.

Captains of the baseball team, Butch Crain and Mike Collins, read over schedule with Coach Ernest Kennedy.

. . . AND ELECTIONS

Artist Sharon Walker works carefully on a drawing for Art Club.

Gossip was the main thing served at the Hi-Lite Big and Little Sister party.

Scot Ann Hood was elected Queen of the Dr. Pepper basketball tournament.

Nat Read accompanies Peggy Derr, Jim Benjamin, Russ Hawn, and Carol Alexander as they go over the music of Rio Rita.

Swinging through some of their songs are Ed Knight, Blanch Butler, Carolyn Crump, and John Lusk.

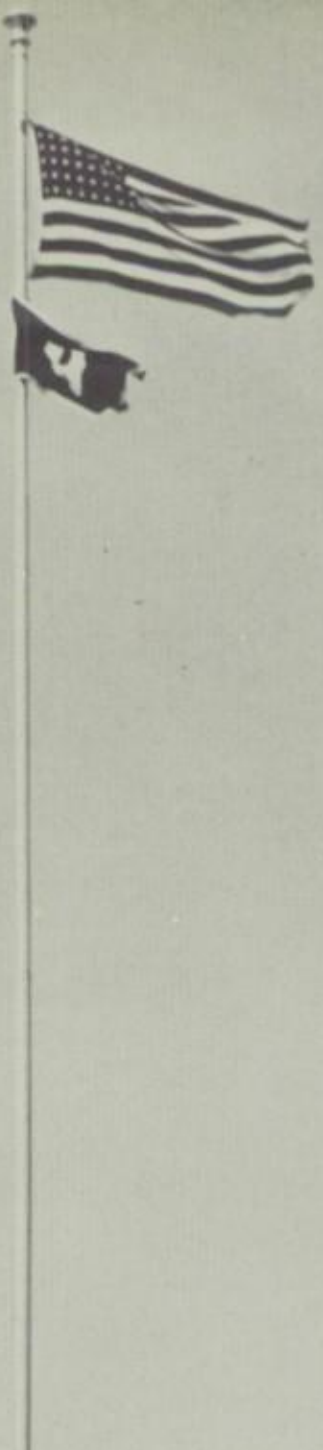
TRIUMPHANTLY WE ENDED ANOTHER YEAR . . .

Charles Swartz rehearses his lines as Dan Webster, Bob Steinman, Mary McLendon, John Gilbert, and Gail Howell look on.

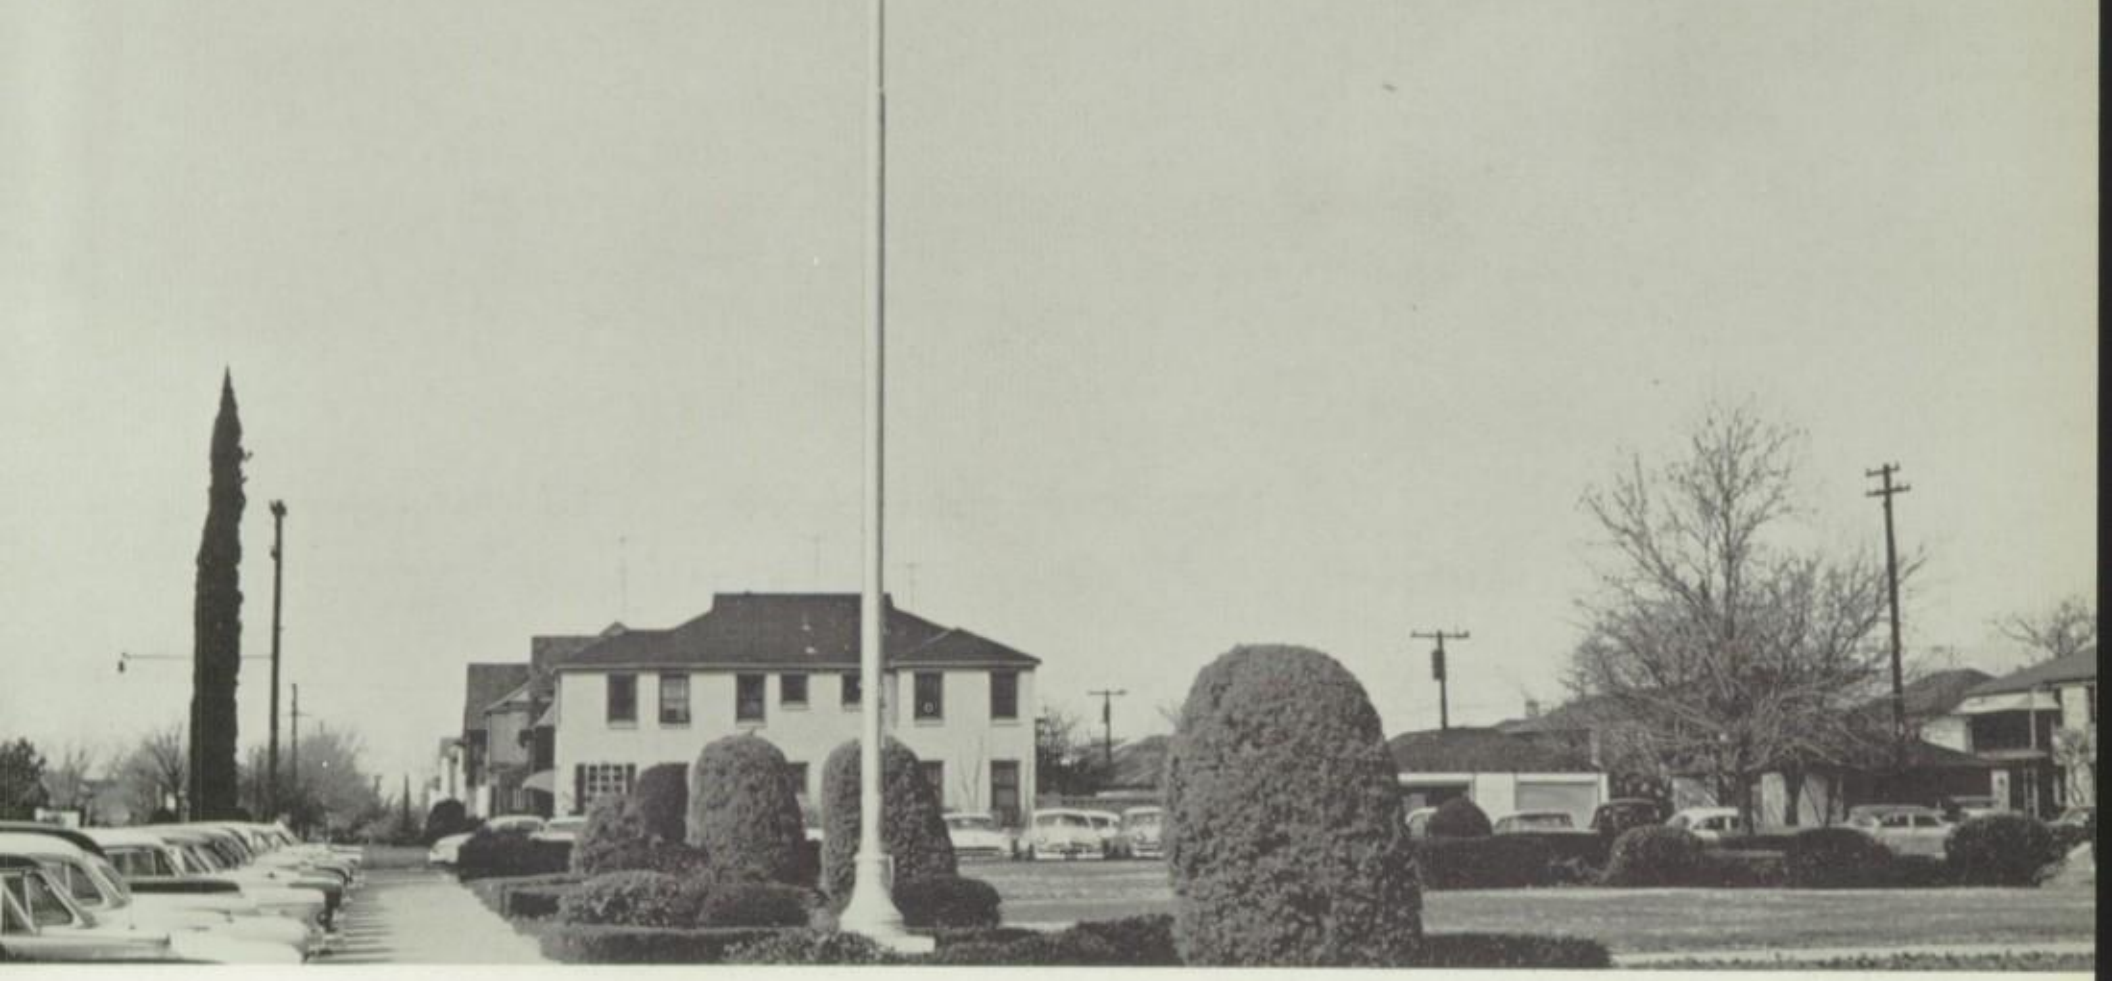
With a burst of color, dramatics, song, and Mexican atmosphere the 1956-57 Lads and Lassies opened their production of Rio Rita.

The operetta is the story of a Texas ranger, Russ Hawn, and his love affair with the beautiful and popular Rita, Carol Alexander. Other leading characters included the honeymooning couple, Chick and Dolly Bean, played by Ed Knight and Blanch Butler; Mr. Lovett, the lawyer, played by John Lusk; Dan Webster as Esteban; and Katie Bean, Chick's ex-wife, portrayed by Carolyn Crump. The rest of the cast consisted of dancers, rangers, Mexican soldiers, and villagers of San Luca.

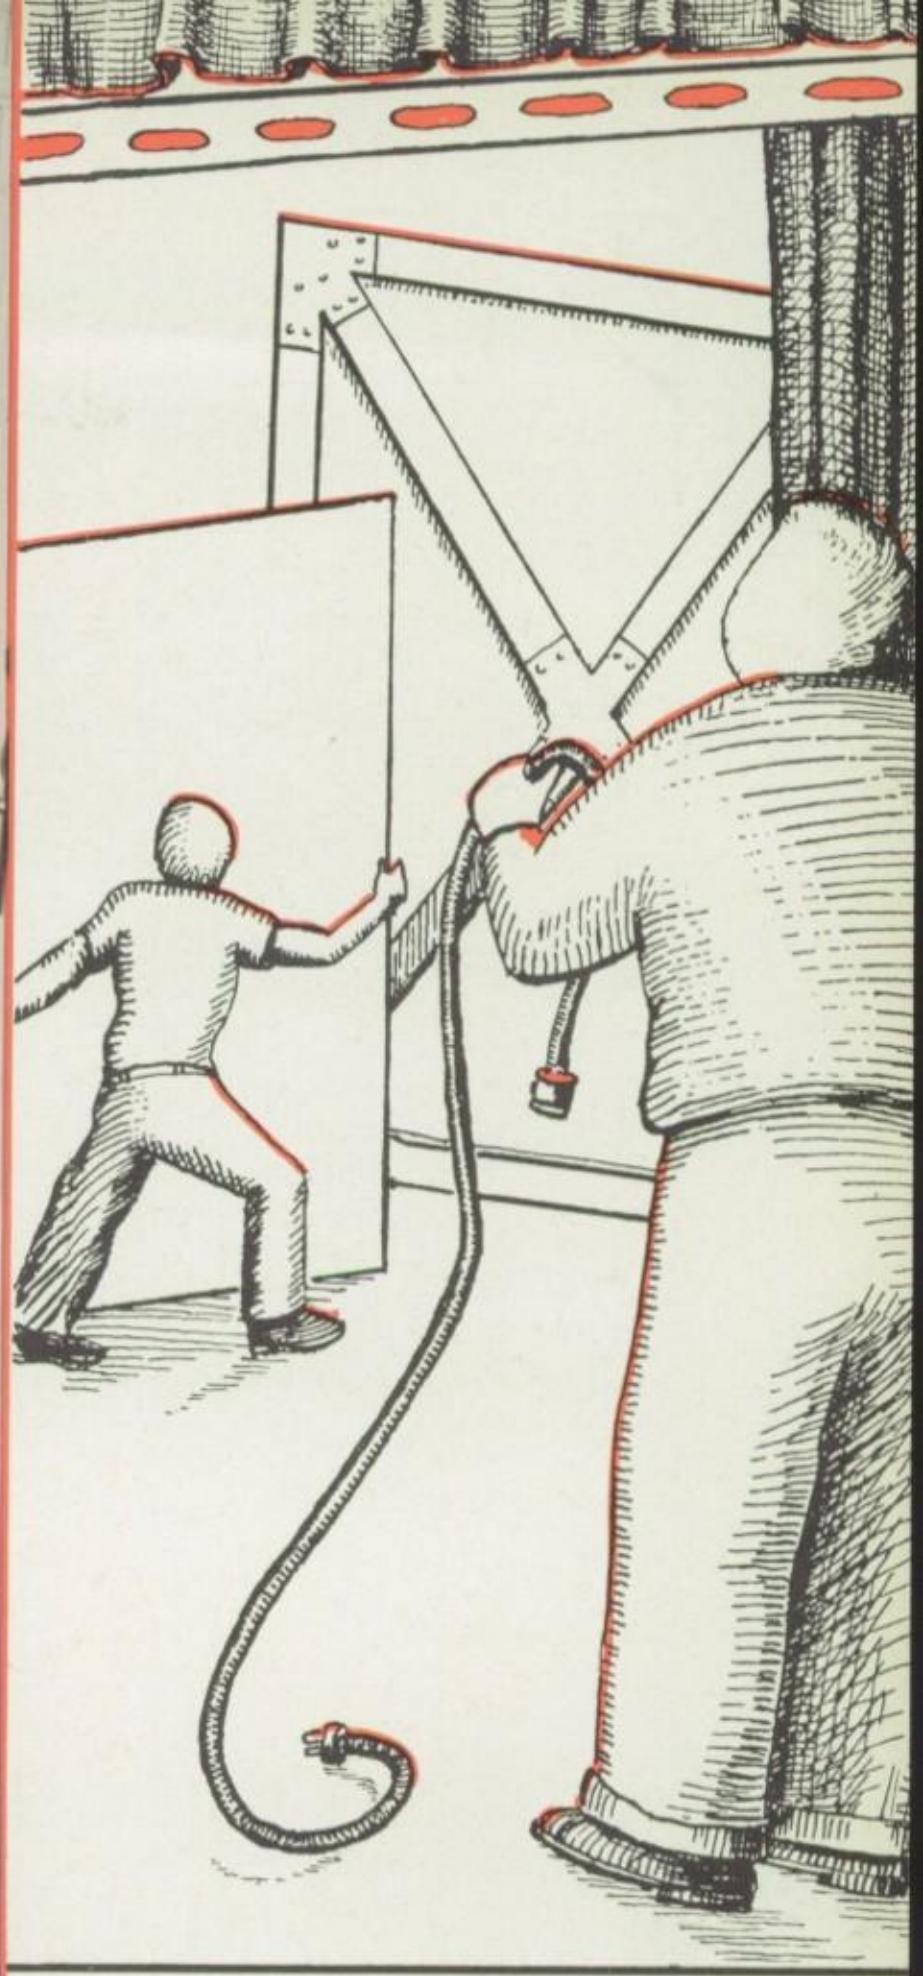
Under the combined efforts of Miss Flora Lee Pope, Miss Helen Moore, Mrs. Doris Griffith, Miss Nancy Ella Dial, and the entire cast and backstage crew, Rio Rita was presented on the nights of March 29 and 30.



A thrilling sight to all Scots is the victory flag flying high at Highland Park.



. . . KNOWING WE'D NEVER FORGET
THE SYMBOL OF SCOT SPIRIT



Time is money, and people give this time for the sake of their loyalty to a cause or organization. Many give silent efforts and hard work with very little thanks or praise. Hours of valuable time are spent by committee workers like these girls making intricate posters for the Highlander sales campaign.

WE THOUGHT THE DAY WOULD NEVER COME

Although this picture of your Highlander Staff heads may be slightly exaggerated, there were many times when "behind the scenes" life in the Highlander office was almost as complicated; and, although the above picture of your co-editors and business manager may appear quite serene, the greatest efforts and the greatest confusion usually resulted when these four got together.

Of course, we might add that the top picture is typical of the beginning of the year, and the second picture portrays the tumult of pre-deadline desperation. No one had the strength to take a picture of the end of the year.

To all of you Scots who worked with us, we give our thanks; and to the rest of the student body whom we hope we have pleased with this 1957 Highlander, we bid farewell—until we meet again.
